Order Settled in Skilypot Case By Judge Rosch

Judge Rosch, who decided in favor of Hasbrouck Estate, fixes witnesses' fees and extra allowance on award and decides other details—Total Judgment, $91,059.38.

The matter of the settlement of the final order in the proceeding brought by the county of Ulster to condemn the lands of the estate of Josiah Hasbrouck for the road leading to the Rondout Creek Bridge on the Eriepark side of the creek, came up for hearing before Judge Rosch on Saturday at the office of Howard Chipp in this city. John W. Eckert, county attorney, appeared for the county; Philip Elting appeared as attorney for John H. Hasbrouck; Edgar E. Ougheltrie appeared as attorney for Kathryn Leonard, and Howard Chipp appeared as counsel for all of the claimants and as attorney for Miss Emily S. Burnett.

The questions which came up for determination before Judge Rosch were the questions of an extra allowance to the claimants' attorneys; the question of the taxation of the claimants' costs; and the further question as to the proportion of the award to which each of the claimants is entitled to receive. The claimants asked for an extra allowance of five per cent on the amount of the award, and upon the interest which has accrued thereon since April 30, 1921, when the county took possession. In addition thereto, they presented a bill of costs for $89 and asked for an allowance for witnesses' fees and disbursements as follows:

Gordon Reel, witness, $106.43.
W. Arthur Farrar, witness, $100.
Gerard S. Van Westrum, witness, $100.00.
E. B. Codwise for making a survey and map, $189.00.
George Wallace Codwise, for topographical map, $219.00.
George Wallace Codwise for making owners' lands into lots, $40.00.
E. W. Hathaway, for making a contour and topographical map, $79.00.

Making a total of $1,013.48, in addition to the extra allowance of approximately $4,500.

John W. Eckert, the county attorney, objected to any extra allowance being made on the ground that the amount awarded by the commission was excessive, and more than compensated the claimants for any disbursements made by them. He also objected to the allowance of costs in excess of $55 and for any allowance for witnesses' fees in excess of the regular witness fees of fifty cents per day, and mileage. He also objected to the disbursements for maps, on the ground that there was no authorization in law for any such allowance, and on the further ground that the bills themselves were grossly excessive. After a long discussion on the part of all of the attorneys who appeared, the court fixed an extra allowance of $3,500 and disallowed the witnesses' fees, except as contended by Mr. Eckert, and disallowed in toto the disbursements for maps and surveys.

A further question was raised by the claimants as to whom the award should be paid. It was the contention of Mr. Chipp, the attorney for Miss Burnett, that she was entitled to be paid a gross sum in lieu of her life estate in one-third of the award. To this the other two attorneys, Messrs. Elting and Ougheltrie, objected, on the ground that the money should be deposited and the income only paid to Miss Burnett. With regard to this Justice Rosch held that the question of the ownership of the money could not be determined in a condemnation proceeding, and that a separate action or proceeding would have to be brought in a court of equity to determine it.

Mr. Eckert also asked Judge Rosch to grant a stay of any proceedings under the final order when entered, for thirty days thereafter, to permit him to take an appeal to the appellate division, which he stated would be done on the part of the county.

Messrs. Rollin R. Sanford of Albany, Herbert F. Roy of Troy and William Intemann of Liberty were the commissioners before whom the Hasbrouck case, which is generally known as the "Skilypot Case" was tried. Mr. Roy and Mr. Intemann made a report awarding to the claimants $12,750 for the three acres of land taken for the highway, and $58,500 for the damages sustained by the tract of land, which on the ground of the report of the report it was conceded was for damages for loss of business in the ferry. Mr. Sanford joined in their findings as to the value of the land actually taken, but refused to join in their report as to the damages sustained by the claimants to the balance of the property.

Mr. Eckert, the county attorney, when the matter came up before Judge Rosch originally for confirmation, objected to confirmation and moved to set the award aside, which was denied.

Under the order settled by Judge Rosch on Saturday, if the case is not reversed in the appellate division of the court of appeals, the county of Ulster will be required to pay for the damages awarded, the sum of $12,750; interest on that amount, at the rate of six per cent per annum from April 30, 1921, to date amounting to $16,249.54; the extra allowance granted of $3,500 and costs which will approximate $300, making in all the total cost to the county and to be received by the Hasbroucks and Miss Burnett, the sum of $34,059.38.

Dr. Downer Must Pay Judgment

As Health Officer of Woodstock He Fumigated House of Norvin R. Lasher, Who Claimed Property Was Damaged by Smoke and Fumes—Jury Awarded Damages.

The appellate division of the supreme court at Albany has handed down a unanimous decision denying the application of Dr. Mortimer B. Downer of Woodstock for a reargument of the appeal from the judgment rendered against him in favor of Norvin R. Lasher of Saugerties, and which was affirmed by the appellate court last November, thus bringing to an end a long litigation.

In September, 1921, Dr. Downer, as health officer of the town of Woodstock, was advised by Mr. Lasher of the recent removal, from Lasher's tenant house, of a tenant supposed to have had tuberculosis, and undertook to disinfect the house by fumigation. In carrying out this work of fumigation, it was alleged that Dr. Downer used a mixture of sulphur and kerosene oil which caused a heavy black smoke and resulted in great damage to the interior of the house and its furnishings.

An action was brought by Mr. Lasher, as plaintiff, against Dr. Downer, and was tried before Justice Nichols and a jury in the supreme court and resulted in a verdict for Lasher. From this verdict and judgment the defendant appealed to the appellate division of the supreme court and the case excited unusual attention among lawyers for the reason that the question presented for determination in the case had never, up to that time, been definitely determined by the courts of New York state.

Dr. Downer contended that inasmuch as he acted as the health officer of the town of Woodstock in performing these services, he was not personally liable and that the plaintiff should have brought an action against the town of Woodstock rather than against him individually. This appeal was argued at the September term of the appellate division at Albany and at the November term of the same court a unanimous decision was rendered, confirming the judgment in all respects and dismissing the appeal. The defendant then applied to the appellate court for a reargument of the appeal, or in case such reargument should be denied, for leave to appeal to the court of appeals, and this application has been in all respects denied by the decision now handed down.

Surrogate George F. Kaufman represented Mr. Lasher throughout the proceedings and Fowler & Loughran of Kingston appeared for Dr. Downer.

Hold Step-Father When Girl Dies

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Feb. 20.—Police were holding Ray Raleigh today, step-father of Miss Naomi Baker, beautiful style model. She either jumped or was hurled from the third floor suite of her parents some time last night.

The girl who is 23 years old, has a severe fractured skull, internal injuries and numerous contusions. Police questioned Raleigh after they had been summoned to the home by neighbors, who report that they had heard a woman screaming, "help," and then the thud of a falling body.

Raleigh said the girl came home last night "after a celebration" and had made preparations to go out again. He and the girl's mother objected and there was a quarrel, he said.

After considerable wrangling, he said, the girl quieted down and her mother went out. Finally, he said, he decided to "make a pot of coffee and have a bite" before going to bed. He invited the girl to join him, he said, but she refused. A moment later he heard her crying for help. He rushed into the bedroom, he said, found the window open and the girl gone.

Looking from the window, Raleigh said, he saw her crumpled body lying on the pavement.

Part of Raleigh's story has been confirmed. Deep finger nail scratches on the window ledge, however, caused the police to hold Raleigh. It was found the girl's fingers were bruised and her nails torn.

CLAIMS AGAINST CITY FOR PERSONAL INJURIES $11,200

The Freeman reporter who wrote the story of the common council session Tuesday evening was evidently thinking of something else when he figured the amount of the five claims for personal injuries filed with the council as totaling $25,500. As a matter of fact they totaled but $11,200, a mere difference of $14,300.

America Prepared For Biggest Navy

Britain Believes United States Is Prepared to Lead World Navies if Disarmament Conference Is Not Held—Secret Conference May Be on Way Here.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 20.—The United States is prepared to build larger navies than any nation in the world if the proposed disarmament conference is not held, the Morning Post declared today, quoting its Washington correspondent, Sir Maurice Low.

Submarines will prove one of the great stumbling blocks if the conference is held, diplomats declared. Great Britain was said to be willing to have submarines included in the conference as an element of warfare to be restricted. France and Japan, on the other hand, were said to be opposed.

The British press is enthusiastic over the admission by Great Britain that it is anxious for a disarmament conference. It was reported that the earl of Balfour has drawn up a secret plan for the proposed conference. Balfour represented England at the last conference.

The Balfour program was said to have been submitted to the cabinet for approval and United States Ambassador Kellogg is believed to be taking a copy of it to America to show to President Coolidge.

Ferry Transport Is Now Running

Tug Washburn on Thursday Completed Breaking a Channel Through River Ice Fields, and Ferry Resumed Operations Today.

Ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff was resumed this morning by the ferry transport. All day Wednesday and Thursday the tug Rob and Washburn of the Cornell Line were busy cutting a channel through the river ice fields.

The Rob took up the work on Wednesday and found the ice from ten to twelve inches thick, and on Thursday the Washburn, a larger and more powerful tug, was sent out in the river to complete the work started by the Rob.

On the Rhinecliff side of the river the ice was found a foot thick and very hard, and the tug worked all day cutting and widening a track through the ice fields.

This morning ferry service was resumed and the Transport is running close to schedule. The tug Washburn was still busy today widening the river channel and breaking up the ice.

The Rondout creek ice is broken up in the lower creek and is floating out into the river on the tide.

Transport's Schedule.

According to the time table which will be found in the advertising columns, the ferry will leave Kingston at 6:30 o'clock each morning, except Sundays, and will leave at intervals of one hour and ten minutes to forty-five minutes from the Ferry street slip. The last trip from Kingston will be at 6:40 o'clock in the evening.

The first trip from Rhinecliff will be at 7:15 o'clock in the morning and the last trip at 7 o'clock at night.

The departure of the ferry at scheduled time is not guaranteed owing to ice conditions in the river.

PISTOLS, KNIVES, BOTTLES, USED IN FIGHT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Sheriff Harry C. Scudder today was seeking the identity of two men in a fight in a house in Stella, a suburb, last night, when pistols and knives and bottles apparently were used freely and vigorously. One man is in a hospital, suffering from deep cuts and loss of blood and the other has not been found. The room where the fight occurred was blood spattered, and even the kitchen crockery smashed. Blood spots in the street and information given by a motorist who had come across one victim in the highway several miles from the city and who took him to the hospital revealed one man, but his identity has not been established. Occupants of the house said that several armed men entered and claimed they were officers. A dispute led to the fight.

LAW TO GOVERN CASES OF SELF REQUESTED MURDER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Copenhagen, Feb. 20.—Amendments to the national murder law will be submitted to the Legislature to govern cases where a person is killed at his own request. Proponents said today there had been three such cases recently, two in Paris and one in the United States.

Negro Pays Death Penalty.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Columbus, O., Feb. 20.—Inter-sending hymn chanting with respect to a murder case, "Jesus is a friend of mine," Henry Brown, 34, a negro, of Cincinnati, went to his death early today in the electric chair at the penitentiary. He was convicted of murdering Parsoness Anthony Twilley, while robbing a street car in June in Cincinnati.

Washington Cold To French Plan For Further Loans

Administration Officials Will Not Encourage New Loan Here Until France Moves to Adjust Her War Debt.

Washington, Feb. 20.—France's overtures to American bankers for new loans aggregating $140,000,000, at a time when she is markedly ignoring all proposals aimed at funding her $4,000,000,000 debt to the Federal government, were regarded today with distinct coldness by administration officials.

While public comment was withheld it was nevertheless made clear in administration circles that until the French government makes some definite move toward adjusting its war debt no encouragement can be given her projects in American money markets.

No law exists under which the Federal government could prevent the flotation of new loans by any foreign government, by the government's disfavor, expressed in the proper quarters, usually is sufficient to deter American bankers. This has operated to stop a considerable number of foreign financial projects in the last three years.

What White House Expects.

It was recalled today that shortly before the arrival of the new French ambassador here, there was conveyed from the White House the direct intimation that unless France made some suitable provision for payment of her war debts the influence of the Federal government might be exerted in curtailing her operations in American money markets.

Developments here today tended to cast some doubt around the correctness of the French finance minister's statement in the chamber that France had been "semi-officially promised" new loans aggregating $140,000,000 in the United States.

Treasury officials, who are usually acquainted with such ventures far in advance, declared they knew absolutely nothing of the loans to which M. Clementel referred and their private comment was such as to make M. Clementel appear too optimistic.

While the executive branch of the government perforce maintains an attitude of public reserve, Congress is bound by no such inhibitions.

Some of the most prominent administration senators declare they would not allow the present session of Congress to end without expressing in speeches their opinion about France's financial policies. Senator Borah, Senator Reed and Senator Smoot already have spoken.

The Temper of Congress.

The temper of Congress was exemplified today by the Blanton resolution in the House, which, if passed, would prohibit the government or any bank affiliated with the Federal Reserve system, from dealing in the securities of "any nation" that has not made funding arrangements with the government on their war time obligations.

This resolution was aimed directly at France and Italy. Between them they owe the United States in excess of $6,000,000,000—more than one-quarter of the entire public debt of the United States. It is inclusive too, of Belgium, Rumania, Serbia, Czechoslovakia and the other smaller countries of Europe whose obligations are of varying size.

The American debt funding commission, which is charged with collecting the war debts, is split. It was learned today, on the question of whether France should not be sent a "dunning" memorandum at once.

Several of its members are in favor of such a move, although the majority is against it on the ground it would only create more bad feeling than already exists.

Brady Withdraws Offensive Play

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 20.—Helen MacKellar, star of "The Good Bad Woman," has turned over to Federal authorities a letter which read:

"You better stop playing in 'The Good Bad Woman' or you will have to leave New York. What kind of a woman are you to have the nerve to come out in such an act as that? You ought to go down to the three and drown yourself."

The threat was needless. William A. Brady, producer, announced today his intention voluntarily to withdraw the show that has been attacked as obscene.

Investigating Double Killing

Sergeant Cunningham Working to Unravel Exact Circumstances of High Falls Murder and Suicide—Autopsy Today Followed by Double Funeral.

In view of certain circumstances surrounding the shooting of Otto Albrecht and the suicide of Charles Gefeles, his father-in-law, at High Falls Wednesday, District Attorney Traver has authorized an autopsy upon the bodies at the undertaking parlors of Coroner Howard B. Humiston at Kerhonkson today. Although the authorities are reasonably certain that it was a case of murder and suicide on the part of Charles Gefeles, an autopsy will be performed before the bodies are interred. This will do away with examining the bodies later in case an investigation should show that someone else fired the shot which killed Albrecht.

Following the autopsy today, double funeral services will be held Saturday at the Humiston funeral parlors for the two victims.

The case is still under observation by Sergeant Cunningham of the State Troopers, who is working to unravel the exact circumstances of the shooting. It is thought Albrecht was shot following a quarrel by his father-in-law, who then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide.

Fehmer Chandler To Marry Model

She Was Favorite Model of Howard Chandler Christy in Whose Studio Chandler Met Her, According to New York Announcement.

The engagement of Fehmer Chandler, son of Dr. and Mrs. George F. Chandler of this city, to Miss Dorothy Knapp, Howard Chandler Christy's favorite model, is announced in a story that appeared on the first page of the New York American this morning. The story could not be verified here as Dr. and Mrs. Chandler are on a western trip and are not expected home before early in March. The American's story follows:

When Howard Chandler Christy proclaimed Dorothy Knapp, his favorite model, the shapeliest girl in New York, the noted artist started more than he imagined.

The first result was that Miss Knapp won the Atlantic City Beauty Contest, then she defeated a thousand fair competitors for the title of the Venus of America in Madison Square Garden.

And now she is engaged to marry Fehmer Chandler, the nephew of the artist who introduced her to fame.

Met in Studio.

They met at the Christy studio four years ago, when Miss Knapp was shyly posing and the youth fell in love at the first glimpse of her. Then, but Dorothy tells it so much better:

"We just became good friends and then agreed to marry. We intended to keep it a secret until we had completed our plans, but there is no use denying the truth."

The prospective bride was rehearsing on the New Amsterdam stage for a prominent role in the spring edition of the Ziegfeld Follies, and she exclaimed:

"Of course, I will not give up the stage. I couldn't even if I wanted to. My contract with Mr. Ziegfeld calls for me to go into the new show which opens on March 9. So it's safe to say that the ceremony will not take place before that time. I wouldn't have time. Just when will be married I don't know, but neither of us believe in long engagements."

6 KILLED, 14 INJURED WHEN TRAM CAR OVERTURNS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Manila, Feb. 20.—Three American army officers and three soldiers were killed and 14 persons were injured today when a crowded tram car overturned at Corregidor.

The dead include Lieutenant Colonel R. E. Herling, Major John Hunter, Warrent Officer C. A. Carter and Sergeant J. T. Davidson.

The tram car, crowded with passengers, just had started down a steep incline. The brakes refused to work, and after dashing rapidly for a short distance, the car was derailed and turned over.

Galli-Curci Aids Scout Drive Here

World-Famous Soprano Expresses Approval of Ulster County Organization—Interesting Girl Scout Program Broadcasted Here Saturday Night.

Madame Amelie Galli-Curci, the world famous soprano star of the Metropolitan opera company, came promptly forward with a contribution toward the Ulster County Girl Scouts' campaign when she learned that it was under way, and expressed her heartfelt approval of the movement in the following letter:

THE AMBASSADOR,
New York.
February 13th, 1925.

Mrs. G. E. Halliday,
Commissioner Ulster County Girl Scouts,
Walkkill, N. Y.

My Dear Mrs. Halliday:
I have your letter and I send with pleasure my check for the Girl Scouts in Ulster county. This movement has my heartiest approval and is deserving of all the help that can be given it.

Believe me, with all good wishes,
Sincerely yours,
A. GALLI-CURCI.

Mme. Galli-Curci has a home at Highmount, Ulster county, where she spends her summers.

A Two Weeks' Campaign.

The Ulster County Girl Scouts, now in their fifth year of existence in Ulster county, never have sought support from the public until this year, except an informal campaign to raise $250 last year. The Girl Scout movement has grown to such an extent, however, and parents who have become acquainted with the beneficial results of the work among the girls of the county have sought an extension of its beneficial activities, that a campaign to raise $3,000 was found necessary. Many men and women of Ulster county have the same feeling displayed by Mme. Galli-Curci in regard to a continuation of the Ulster County Girl Scout work and an opportunity to contribute to the fund is afforded to everyone either by contributing to the Girl Scouts who are canvassing in their respective sections, or by sending their contributions direct to Miss Eleanor Horton, county director, 42 John street, Kingston, N. Y.

As a matter of justice to Mrs. Halliday, county commissioner, through whose generosity the past activities of the Girl Scouts in Ulster county have been made possible, and in conformity to the high ideals of Girl Scouts, it has been considered best to give everyone an opportunity to contribute to a fund which will insure continued work among the girls of Ulster county for another year.

Mme. Galli-Curci's prompt action in donating the extent to which people who themselves have achieved success approve Girl Scouts and the results which their high ideals accomplish.

Broadcasting From WDBZ.

As part of the two weeks' campaign of the Ulster County Girl Scouts, the Girl Scouts will broadcast from Station WDBZ, the radio-casting station of the Ulster County Boy Scouts at the city hall, this city, on Saturday evening of this week, the program commencing at 8:15 o'clock.

Saturday night's program will be of a most entertaining character, to which radio listeners will be certain to tune in.

Judge Clearwater of this city will give a talk on the subject of "Womanhood." This will be the first time Judge Clearwater has broadcasted from the local station. In fact, the first he has broadcasted from any station.

County audience in some time, and it is certain that he will pay much heed to the tribute which high ideals merit. He will be introduced to the radio audience by Mrs. E. H. Bogart of Kingston, who is first deputy commissioner of the Ulster County Girl Scouts.

Miss Horton, county director, will give a short talk on the work which the Girl Scouts in Ulster county have accomplished.

The musical part of the WDBZ Saturday night program will be furnished by artists well known throughout Ulster county. Among them will be Miss Ethel Schwab, the well known musician of Saugerties, and Miss Virginia Lee Kamp, the contralto soloist of New York city and Kingston, who has already most favorably impressed radio as well as other audiences. Miss Eva Rand of this city will sing and the entire program promises to be pleasing to the radio listener.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS SHOW RESPECT TO BURTON

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 20.—Many students passed today before the bust of the late Marion Perry Burton, president of the University of Michigan, while the body lay in state in Alumni Memorial Hall.

Tomorrow the funeral cortege will pass through two solid lines of students. The procession, headed by the band of the university, and eight students will set out in pallbearers.

Reverend James H. Angell, president of Yale, and Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard law school, are being given consideration to succeed Dr. Burton.

Human Skeletons 50,000 Years Old.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 20.—Two human skeletons believed to be 50,000 years old, have been discovered in a cave near the Russian-German border and are being examined by the Russian government. The skeletons are of a primitive type and are believed to be of the same race as the Neanderthal man. The discovery is of great importance to the study of human evolution.

Cities Not Safe Unless Defended By Airplanes

General Mitchell Also Tells Congressional Committee Battleships Can Be Sunk From Air—Landfire Never Brings Down Planes.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 20.—Hitting back again at his critics, Brig-General William Mitchell told the House air craft investigating committee today that the reason the battleship Washington was not sunk from the air in the recent bombing test was that no real explosive bombs were used.

Only sand-filled projectiles were used, Mitchell said, and even those pierced the armor of the most modern battleship.

Naval officers had previously disputed Mitchell's claims of what had been done to the Washington.

Defending the People.

"Every nation knows what a real bomb will do to a battleship and we are only doubting our own people when we fail to tell exactly what happened to the Washington," said Mitchell.

"Only sand-filled projectiles were dropped on the Washington from the air and even these pierced the armor deck."

If real projectiles had been used, they would have gone clear through the ship.

"The tests showed nothing new whatever for the Washington was sent down by charges from the sides. Only three 1,000 pound charges of T. N. T. were used and T. N. T. is not the most effective explosive."

In comparison with the 2,000 pound bombs of the United States Mitchell said England and Japan had bombs weighing 3,200 and 3,000 pounds respectively.

"In 1911, the joint army and navy board declared that high explosive bombs dropped from the air could sink or seriously damage any naval vessel constructed," said Mitchell. "Nothing has been done since to change that opinion."

"As a matter of fact," Mitchell added, "battleships are even more vulnerable now because they are bigger."

"We can blow any battleship in the world out of water," he declared. Mitchell challenged the testimony of coast artillery officers that anti-aircraft fire could turn back an enemy air invasion.

Small Casualties Overseas.

"Over seas our casualties from anti-aircraft guns were only one-tenth of one per cent," he said. "No fire from the ground can beat back an air attack."

"What lesson are we to draw from all your testimony," asked Representative Reed, of Illinois.

"Just this: No battleship can exist against air attack, and no American city can stand out against air attack unless the city is defended by airplanes."

"The navy is in error when it gives out information, based on the Washington tests, that battleships can't be sunk from the air. Battleships can only exist under the loving care of air planes and submarines."

Landfire Ineffective.

At Mitchell's suggestion, the committee then summoned W. A. Tipton, world war ace, and now a Baltimore newspaperman. Tipton brought down four German airplanes and two balloons.

"We never paid any attention whatever to enemy anti-aircraft fire," said Tipton. "I never knew of a single American plane that was brought down out of commission by landfire and the Germans were much better gunners than the Allies."

"How can you explain the discrepancy between the testimony given by you fliers and that of the men who stayed home and say that the records showed that anti-aircraft fire was responsible for twenty per cent of the German planes brought down?" asked Representative Perkins, Republican of New Jersey.

"Lots of things were done at home that didn't happen on the front," replied Tipton.

"I don't think any aviator with two weeks' experience at the front would fear to fly over the best anti-aircraft battery in the world," added Mitchell.

Seamen Magazine Writer.

The committee today issued a subpoena for Clifford A. Tinker, former naval officer, who claimed to be a magazine article that Congress sacrificed the lives of 24 officers and men for $112 each by failure to appropriate money to provide helmets for the dirigible Roma which crashed a few years ago.

The congressman alleged that Tinker's head held a document which turned a key in the lock of Mrs. Scott's room during a night call at the Scott apartment in the executive Washington Park Hotel, Washington.

Deaths Increase In Industries

One Hundred and Sixty-nine Industrial Fatalities Were Reported to Workmen's Compensation Bureau During January—Greatest Increase in Falls and Vehicles.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 20.—During January, 169 industrial fatalities were reported to the Workmen's Compensation Bureau according to a statement issued today by Industrial Commissioner James A. Hamilton.

"This number," the commissioner added, "is greatly in excess of those reported for the past few months and is the highest number recorded since November, 1923. While in each of these cases it was alleged that the death resulted in the course of, or in connection with the occupations of the deceased workers, it is not yet known how many will be construed as coming under the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Law."

A separation of the fatalities according to the sex of the workers who lost their lives as a result of accidental injuries sustained in connection with industrial activities showed that six were women while the remaining 163 were men.

An analysis of the ages of the deceased workers revealed that 48 were under 35 years of age and 40 were more than 55 years old.

The reports as filed at present, with some of them still incomplete, show that 145 dependents survive the deceased employees. Their relationship to the bread-winner was as follows: One hundred and six widows, two widowers, 25 parents, two grandparents, 16 brothers and sisters and 94 children. This last group included 10 under two years of age, 21 between two and six years old, 26 ranging in ages from six to 10, 20 over 10 and under 14 years of age and 17 between 14 and 18 years old.

The classification of the industrial fatalities for January by cause of accident indicates many increases. Chief among these are an increase of 26 deaths over the 18 reported as due to falls in December, and an increase of nine deaths due to vehicles bringing the total for this cause up to 32 for January.

Of the 32 deaths due to vehicles, 17 were caused by automobiles, 10 by steam and electric railways, four by wagons, and the remaining one by other types of vehicles. A tabulation of these fatalities by a detailed classification as to the cause of accident shows that 17 of the workers who lost their lives because of vehicular accidents were not riding in the conveyances while the other 15 were.

Falls from automobiles and wagons took 5 and 3 lives respectively. The Syracuse and New York districts each reported one death caused by the collision of automobiles with engines, while the Buffalo district reports showed one fatality due to the collision of a wagon with an engine.

The number of deaths reported by districts was as follows: New York city 103, Albany 19, Buffalo 19, Rochester 6, Syracuse 22.

Poisonous substances which were absent as causes of death during December were responsible for the loss of 6 lives in the New York city district.

One of these deaths was due to tuberculosis contracted by a carpenter who had become overcome by coal gas fumes from salamanders while laying floors. He is survived by a widow and six children ranging in age from 2 to 8.

A 24-year-old night watchman employed in a garage was alleged to have become asphyxiated by coal gas. Two employees engaged in general work, one in a machine shop and the other in a glass and china decorating establishment, were reported to have died as a result of inhaling the fumes of poisonous acids.

A printer's apprentice succumbed to the effects of lead poisoning.

A laborer employed by a gas manufacturing and distributing corporation was overcome by gas fumes, penetrating a mask which he wore when he descended into a pit.

From the Albany district came the report of a death which resulted from a rather insignificant injury. A teamster suffered a laceration of a finger which became infected and involved his entire system. He is survived by a widow and 4 children, the youngest of whom is 4 and the oldest 15 years of age.

One of the Rochester deaths involved a section hand who was struck by a train and instantly killed. His weekly wage was $18.46 and the surviving wife and 8 children ranging in age from less than 1 year to 13 years have made claim for the two-thirds of this sum allowed them by law.

A Syracuse laborer employed by a corporation engaged in the manufacturing and distribution of gas and electricity was reported to have died from carbon monoxide poisoning.

Death ProbeMRS. NINA H. PIERCE
& MRS. LUCY HAGENOW

Mrs. Lucy Hagenow, a Chicago midwife, has been held in $35,000 bail, on a charge of murder, following the death of Mrs. Nina Harding Pierce, daughter of a wealthy family and a coed in the University of Illinois, who, police allege, died as the result of an illegal operation. Mrs. Pierce's husband, Logan F. Pierce, son of a capitalist, who married her only five days before her death, was held in $7,500 bail pending investigation.

FAMOUS FORTS
IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

"He Who Finds Gold Dies in the Alms-house"

He was a Swiss adventurer, born in Germany, schooled in the French army and a member of a band of trappers who crossed the western plains to California in 1838. There the Spanish governor Juan Alvarado, made him a general and presented him with 11 square leagues of land upon which he built, at the junction of the American river and the Sacramento, a fort which he named Fort New Helvetia.

With an army of 50 men as a garrison, he dwelt here in feudal state, ruling over thousands of Indians who cultivated his broad acres of wheat, tended his vineyards or cared for his herds of 12,000 cattle, 10,000 sheep and 2,000 horses and mules. Governor Micheltoreau, Alvarado's successor, presented him with an additional 11 square leagues of land and so Gen. John A. Sutter was truly a "monarch of all he surveyed."

Then on January 24, 1848, Capt. James W. Marshall, employed by Sutter to build a sawmill at Colusa up the American river, found in the sands some shining particles. He told Sutter about it and although they tried to keep secret the discovery of gold, the news leaked out. One day in May a man walked down the streets of San Francisco holding aloft a bottle of shining dust and shouting, "Gold! Gold! Gold from the American river!"

The news depopulated San Francisco. Sailors deserted their ships in the harbor. A tide of gold-mad humanity surged around Fort New Helvetia or Fort Sacramento, as it was also called. The Swiss "king's" stores were looted by reckless adventurers who soon followed the first prospectors; his live stock was stolen; his lands were overrun by squatters.

"He who finds gold will die in the alms-house." So runs an old Spanish proverb. Gen. John A. Sutter learned the bitter truth of that. California became a part of the United States and the titles given by the Spanish governors were no longer recognized. He appealed to the United States courts for recompense and justice. For awhile he was given a monthly pension of $250 but relinquished this bounty after receiving it 14 years. Embittered and poverty-stricken he went east and settled in the little town of Littleton, Pa. There he died in 1880.

Fort New Helvetia, Sutter's Fort, is now the city of Sacramento, the capital of California.

The colored janitor of a church in St. Louis had a violent temper. He was converted, but sometimes his temper would get the best of his good resolutions. On one occasion when he was repenting of one of his lapses, he made this prayer after he had asked the Lord to forgive him: "O Lord, keep me up on the leaning side." —Christian Witness.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 20, 1925.

H. G. Wells says "perhaps no race is fit to have the upper hand of any other race." How about any man having the upper hand over any other man?

Feverish excitement is reported from Sedalia, Mo., where the prosecuting attorney cruelly made public the names of all citizens who had obtained whiskey by prescription within a month.

A good many days have passed since Representative Garrett referred in the House to the Senate as a "whimsical and mercurial body," but the august dignities thus characterized have not yet either denounced him for sacrilege or recommended his deportation.

The famed Manchester (England) Guardian pays the following interesting tribute to our retiring Secretary of State: "By the resignation of Charles E. Hughes international politics loses a singularly sane, humane and consistent figure. For his work at the Washington Naval Disarmament Conference, of which he was the chairman, if for nothing else, he will be widely remembered. Right at the outset of the conference he brought forward a great and practical plan for naval disarmament and made a memorable contribution to peace and retrenchment."

INDECENT PLAYS.

It is noticeable that New York editors, who formerly objected to the censorship of the theater on the ground of possible damage to "art," now seem to regard it as necessary to devise some means of grappling successfully with the problem of what the World describes as "rotten plays." William A. Brady having consented to withdraw his own "fired offering" immediately "if the other plays of the same character are withdrawn," the World sarcastically attributes to that manager the belief that "the real way to sweep filth from the New York stage is to pile more on to it." The World pointedly reminds Mr. Brady that what other producers who pander to the lowest public taste may do is not his responsibility, that if he had any desire for reform he would not have produced the objectionable play in the first place and, if he had any now, he would withdraw it—or words to that effect.

Talcott Williams suggests that "if highly respectable people would stop buying tickets to objectionable plays, the plays would soon end," thus blaming the public for not properly interfering. To this the New York Times pessimistically replies: "But are there not many resorts, altogether objectionable and utterly banned by highly respectable people, which flourish like the green bay tree? Even in the so-called temples of dramatic art, the highly respectable are, alas, a minority." In other words, the public can not work the needed reform because a very large part of the public welcomes indecent plays—which, though not so intended, will be found comforting by the unscrupulous producers who have long contended that the public is given only what it wants and deserves.

All of which indicates that improper plays are multiplying and the problem is more and more widely regarded as a serious one. It seems that Mayor Carroll of Cincinnati plans to meet the recognized need by appointing a committee of intelligent citizens to act as censors of the theater—a committee consisting of a minister, a lawyer, a broker, a banker, a business man, a physician, and three women. It is more than possible that these will not find it easy to agree, and even if they agree to order a suppression there will be loud outcry that they do not appreciate and are wisely putting obstacles in "art." The difficulties in the way of proper and successful censorship are very great, but there is strenuous conviction on the part of the better element of the public that something must be done, and the program of the Cincinnati experiment will be followed with keen interest.

There is good reason to believe that indecency is not the most harmful feature of some of the new plays whose promoters seek to justify them under the name of "art," for there is in them a pessimism and materialism of view that tends to destroy not only all reverence for accepted moral standards but even respect for the cardinal virtues. The general spirit of a play or work of fiction is apt to leave a deeper and more lasting impression than its mere letter.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

"ROAD" WORK AND THE LIVER.

In putting an athlete into shape, be he a boxer, wrestler, oarsman, or footballer, the trainer puts more emphasis on what he calls "road work" than on anything else.

In truth the man must box, wrestle, or row to acquire the necessary skill. He likewise gets considerable "condition" from this athletic work in which he specializes, but nevertheless the old trainer sees that he gets lots of road work, which is simply jogging slowly along the road or street, or even around the running track of the gymnasium.

Why is this so important? Because of the tremendous amount of work necessary to throw the body in the air when he runs. In an ordinary jog of one mile, he would lift over one hundred tons weight off the ground, and he would do it in a few minutes.

It is not hard therefore to see that the heart would have to pump this blood, and the lungs would have to purify it. A strong heart, and an efficient pair of lungs results.

Therefore the ideal way to develop the lungs would be to use the big leg and thigh muscles, and thus call for extra air.

Now you can readily see that this is a better system of developing the lungs, than simply taking long breaths, where all the muscle that you use, is the flat muscles on the chest.

However, there is one thing that is attained by these deep breathing exercises, and that is an actual massaging of the liver.

This means more to you than you think, because the liver is such a soft organ, that any play of the muscles of the abdomen would tend to squeeze it, and thus bring the bile into the intestine to do its most important work.

You may remember that it not only breaks up fats, but takes care of poisons and hurries the intestinal contents along.

Perhaps you sit at a desk or stand by a bench all day, and hence your middle third, or abdomen gets no bending or exercise.

If then in your endeavor to increase your lung capacity, you take a number of long deep breaths, you will of course increase your lung capacity to some extent, but the lungs pressing down on the diaphragm, that is the floor of the chest, and the diaphragm on the soft liver, will squeeze the liver and help empty the bile into intestine.

Thus your breathing exercises—drawing in and expelling long breaths—might well be termed liver exercises.

Kingston High School Notes

Basketball Games This Evening at High School Gym—Debate Team Preparing for Coming Debate With Poughkeepsie.

Thursday morning, the K. H. S. orchestra rendered its usual weekly program. The whole orchestra played the well known "Norwegian Dance," by Grieg. "Barcarole," from Tales of Hoffman, a saxophone duet, was played by Berton and Emerson Davis. Thursday afternoon the annual music association membership drive was held in the front corridor of the school from three until four o'clock.

Miss Margaret McCullough of the K. H. S. faculty returned to her work Thursday morning after an absence of two weeks, resulting from an operation.

Tonight at eight o'clock in the high school gymnasium the faculty basketball team of the Kingston High School will line-up against the faculty team of the Englewood High School of Englewood, New Jersey. Preliminary to this game, the K. H. S. second team will play the "Holy Terrors" from Rondout. Dancing will follow the games. The K. H. S. varsity basketball team will play the New Paltz Normal team at New Paltz this evening.

The debating teams of the local high school are hard at work preparing for the coming Poughkeepsie debate which will be held at Kingston this year. The question to be debated is, "Resolved, that the Johnson bill referring to Japanese exclusion should be repealed." The Kingston team will uphold the negative side on this question. The varsity debating team this year will be composed of two boys and two girls. The speakers will be Mayer Koplovitz, Elsie Tetley and Charlotte Wheeler, with John Clark as alternate. The team is working hard and expects to debate this question of Japanese exclusion with the second team some day next week.

Today We Celebrate

CAPT. STEWART AND "OLD IRONSIDES."

It is just 110 years ago today, February 20, 1815, that the United States Frigate Constitution, better known as "Old Ironsides," won the late victory of her triumphal career.

The most famous and successful of all the early vessels of the American Navy was then commanded by Captain Charles Stewart, who, while the American people were celebrating the conclusion of peace between the two nations, was then sailing off the Madeira Islands, all unaware that the conflict was over. On the 20th of February the British sloops of war "Cyane" and "Levant" approached the islands where "Old Ironsides" was lying in wait for her prey. The battle was swift and decisive, and at its conclusion Stewart was master of the situation, and both British vessels were in his possession.

The greeting card sent out this New Year by the Annapolis Class has on one side a spirited picture of "Old Ironsides" under full sail.

CATHERINE MACAULAY.

The first woman historian to attain wide fame was Mrs. Catherine Macaulay, an Englishwoman, who died 154 years ago. She wrote a history of England which was famous in her day. She was born in Kent, the daughter of John Sawbridge, and at 28 married Dr. George Macaulay, a London physician. She was a staunch believer in republican principles and her historical works reflect her keen devotion to the cause of liberty. She corresponded with George Washington for several years, and in 1785, on a visit to America was a guest of the Washingtons at Mt. Vernon for three weeks.

CUBAN REVOLUTION.

The first shot in the last and successful Cuban Revolution was fired just 30 years ago today, February 20, 1895.

Martial law was at once proclaimed, and the civil and military authorities soon reported to Madrid that the revolt was "snuffed out." They were very much mistaken, however, and in March, General Campos was sent with strong reinforcements. He failed to cope with the rebels, however, and finally the United States came to the assistance of the struggling Cubans. The island was devastated and 200,000 lives lost in the war, but the end was "Cuba Libre," the dream of a century.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY TEA DANCE AT Y. W. C. A.

A delightful Miss Washington's Birthday Tea Dance will be held at the Y. W. C. A. on Saturday afternoon from three until six o'clock under the auspices of the "Y" bowling team. The girls are making elaborate plans and the affair promises to be very attractive. Decorations will be in red, white and blue with the small tables placed around the hall where refreshments will be served. The Black Cap orchestra will play for dancing and a series of specialty numbers will be featured at various intervals.

The committee for the party is composed of the following: Miss Florence Wheeler, general chairman; refreshments, Miss Florence Vogel, Miss Gladys Pippie, Miss Mabel Merrick, waitresses, Miss Ellen Horton, Miss Ethel Kline, Miss Gladys Hopper, Miss Caroline Herrmann, Miss Marie Hopper, Miss Virginia Herdman, Miss Alice Tyler, decorations, Miss Ethel Schumann, Miss Tripp and Miss Merrick; breaking of wraps, Miss Ellen Harte, Miss Emily Kriger, Miss Schumann; chairs, Miss Katherine Willard, Miss Mae Perkins; program, Miss Irene Redman.

The tickets are moderate in price and may be secured from members or at the Y. W. C. A. office. The affair will be supervised by members of the Y. W. C. A. board of directors.

Cod Liver Oil in Sugar Coated Tablets For Puny Kids

Forget the nasty tasting, stomach upsetting cod liver oil and give the thin, puny, underdeveloped children McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets if you want to give them a good appetite and put pounds of good, healthy flesh on their bones.

Doctors know all about them and so do all good pharmacists all over America, for they are in great demand, because they are not laggards but show results in a few days.

They are not expensive either—40 tablets—60 cents and children take them like candy.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Crouson's, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Crouson's is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and when forms of throat and lung troubles. Crouson's contains in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Crouson's is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Crouson's Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Ad.)

Clubwomen Favor Censors and Court

Executive Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs Wants Motion Picture Censorship Law Retained and United States to Enter World Court.

At the February meeting of the Executive Committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs held on Thursday afternoon at the Kingston City Library, Mrs. Wonderly, the vice-president, presided in the absence of Dr. Mary Gage-Day, the president. The secretary, Mrs. Drake, was also absent on account of illness and Mrs. Watts acted as secretary pro tem. Miss Healey, the treasurer, gave her monthly report, which was accepted.

The Federation was in receipt of a letter from the trustees of the Kingston City Library acknowledging the receipt of $325 from the Federation and expressing the thanks of the board of trustees. After thoughtful discussion it was voted to be the sense of the committee to favor the United States entry into the World Court, which matter was brought up by Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen, chairman of the Third District. Mrs. Van Wagenen also brought up the subject of moving picture censorship and it was voted to ask all club or committee chairmen in the Federation to send a letter to Ulster's assemblyman asking for the retention of the present censorship bill.

A sincere and well-deserved tribute was paid to the Lowell Club for the delightful open meeting given by that club, under many adverse circumstances last Saturday afternoon.

Hope to Find Skeleton of Hippo in England

The caves of Torbryan, near Newton Abbot, in England, are being searched in the hope of finding the skeletonized remains of a hippopotamus. In the middle of last century a Teignmouth draper named Wedger spent most of his leisure time for twenty years searching nine of the natural caves and found the remains of bears, wolves, lions and hyenas. His most startling find was that of the tooth and part of the forehead of a hippopotamus. Experts have argued for years over the latter discovery, and a systematic search of the caves is being made in the hope that the rest of the bones of the river monster will be found. It is common knowledge in scientific circles that, in the different eras through which Great Britain passed, bears, wolves, lions and other wild animals ranged the country, but, in regard to the situation of the caves, it is contended that there would be too little water to attract a hippopotamus. Beneath the natural floor of one of the caves signs of human habitation have been discovered.

Had Reason to Think So

Giles was being questioned in the court by a lawyer who considered himself great on cross-examination. "Do you on your oath swear that this is not your handwriting?" he asked sternly of the witness. "I reckon not," answered Giles. "Does it resemble your writing, then?" "No, I don't think so." "Well, do you swear that it doesn't resemble your handwriting?" "I do, indeed." "What?" thundered the halting counsel. "You take your oath that that writing doesn't resemble yours in a single letter?" "Yes," persisted Giles somewhat nervously. "How do you know it doesn't?" asked the lawyer, with a smiling smile. "Well," replied Giles, with a smile, "I think so, because I can't write."

TRAGEDY OF WOODS NOT HARD TO AVOID

"Lost" Person Need Only Retain Presence of Mind.

The tragedy of incidents like that of the hunter who perished in the woods within striking distance of help is heightened by the circumstance that, barring disabling accident, they almost invariably are avoidable. Putting aside the man's possible neglect to provide himself with such simple necessities as a compass and matches, which everyone who ventures even a short way into the wilderness ought to do, there is nothing intrinsically fatal in an overnight stay out of doors in this weather. Uncomfortable it certainly would be, but not necessarily more serious than that. And in due course, long before starvation would cause death, the mathematical chances of rescue, as was provided by the instance in point, are largely in favor of the lost.

Yet fatalities occur with amazing frequency under conditions closely resembling those in which Lloyd Yocum lost his life. Investigation shows in more than 90 cases out of 100 that the primary cause of death is exhaustion. The psychology of this type of casualty is interesting. The wanderer is confronted by the sight of some familiar landmark which he remembers having passed before, although he thought he was traveling in a different direction. He then tries to relocate himself, but a few attempts end in failure. It seemed easy, at first. It proves the reverse. The initial reaction is realization of incompetency. Bewilderment ensues, and an overpowering sense of complete helplessness. Then panic. And paralysis of the logical faculties. Finally mad desire, mounting to frenzy, to make up for lost time by traveling somewhere—anywhere—in tremendous haste.

It has now become a race between the rescue party, or luck, and uttermost fatigue. No ordinary physical body can long sustain the pace that the hunter by this time has imposed on himself. He climbs over fallen trees that he might have walked around as quickly and with infinitely less labor. He thrashes through thickets that only a little reflection would lead him to avoid. He adopts too literally the principle that if one will follow water down hill far enough it is sure to take him to safety and he fears to depart ever so slightly from the bed of some creek. The hillside, and the ridge above, though ever so much more kindly and promising, provided one keeps the main purpose in mind, never know him. The tangled, nearly impenetrable conglomeration of matted underbrush and prostrate windswept familiar to every fisherman exact the last ounce of his energy, and he succumbs.

Karnak and St. John

The caves of St. John the Divine, to be started in New York next spring, is to be one of the three largest religious buildings in the world, according to an announcement by Bishop Manning. It will rank with such sacred and magnificent structures as St. Peter's, Milan, Seville, Florence, St. Paul's, Cologne, York, Amiens and Antwerp. Yet in size it will not be comparable with the ancient temple of Karnak in Egypt. A comparison of its size staggers even our modern conception. St. Peter's at Rome, the cathedral of Milan and the famous Notre Dame of Paris, the most familiar and imposing of European cathedrals—the whole three put together just about equal in area the actual temple building at Karnak. Each one of the great churches enumerated above would comfortably go into one of the halls at Karnak.—Pierre Van Passen in the Atlanta Constitution.

Had to Make Speed

She had hardly spoken a word to him all through the evening. "I say," he remonstrated, "you might talk. You've been knitting away like mad for a full half-hour." "Sorry, dear," she replied, "but I'm in a hurry to get this jumper finished before the wool runs out."

Music Score

The word score has several meanings in music. Full score has all the parts of a composition. Instrumental score, for instruments only. Short score, generally applied to a vocal score with a piano or organ accompaniment. Vocal score, where each voice has a line to itself. Piano score, where the orchestral or vocal parts are compressed into a piano part.

Lecture on Three Great Italians

Actress and Authors, Their Lives, Work and Influence Described by Dr. Roselli of Vassar College in Junior League Lecture.

Dr. Bruno Roselli's second lecture under the auspices of the Junior League, on the subject of "Duse, Pirandello, Papini," given in the lecture room of the Fair Street Reformed Church on Thursday afternoon, was intensely interesting.

Dr. Roselli said he only wished that his entire audience might have stood with him in Central Park in New York city when the body of Duse was carried to the ship that was to take it back to Italy, when all traffic was stopped for five minutes as some 15,000 Italians stood with bowed heads to bid a last farewell to their beloved compatriot whose tragic death at Pittsburgh brought to an end her tragic life.

Dr. Roselli counted Duse one of the most honest actresses he knew. She was born in a little village of Piedmont in Italy as her parents were on route to Venice, the city of great playwrights and actors and actresses. He compared her with Sarah Bernhardt, who was so entirely different from Duse, and between whom there was never any jealousy. Duse was in a city at the time of the arrival of Bernhardt with all of her retinue and was warned that that was what she would have to encounter in her field of art. She replied simply that she was glad that finally someone had given dignity to their art.

The lecturer made mention of the daring and courage of Duse in many ways, one of them being her absolute refusal to "make up," because she believed absolutely that physical things were nothing while her art was everything. She was exceedingly unassuming in manner. Dr. Roselli noted her always entering the stage when there were others on the stage so that her entrance was scarcely observed until she was in action. She had a rare soul that possessed the magic of gripping the souls of those who saw her acting. Dr. Roselli gave an exceedingly interesting description of Duse's face and called attention to the rare beauty of her hands. She knew dire poverty and sordidness with all that they meant to one of her intense nature and she was ready to suffer and to pay the full price for all that she had from life.

Then Dr. Roselli told at some length of her association with that superman, d'Annunzio, who wrote five of his greatest dramas for her, who was such an inspiration to him. He said that it seemed particularly fitting that Duse should have been laid to rest in the little town of "Pipa," who Browning has made immortal, for Duse herself was like Pipa in that she had no relaxation, no rest and no sunlight save that within, yet gave of her whole life to others.

Then Dr. Roselli told of the life of Pirandello, the Italian author who recently visited America; the exponent of what might be termed "The Grotesque." For many years Pirandello was a teacher in the Normal School in Rome before he began to write. His novels are practically all based upon the idea of a dual or multiple personality, which while it presents many grotesque situations, is based on keen and deep knowledge of human nature. Dr. Roselli vividly described two of Pirandello's greatest novels, "The Late Mattia Pascal," and "Henry IV."

Finally Dr. Roselli spoke about his fellow-townsmen, almost his friend, Papini, that bitter genius who out of the poverty and struggle of his early days came finally into fame through his "Life of Christ." But the lecturer felt that the real success of the book had been because of people's interest in the life of Jesus Christ, rather than in Papini, whose belief in Christianity for himself as well as others does not seem to blossom in the Christian attributes of mercy, sympathy and love. Disappointed, disgusted and dissatisfied that the world has not grown better than it has as the outcome of the World War, Papini is a Christian because it seems impossible for him to be anything else, yet his book has the rare merit of being such that it may be read with profit, for its problems are not local, but rather deal with the spirituality of the world.

The lecture next week will again be in the chapel of the First Reformed Church at 3:30 o'clock on "What Shall We Do With 3,000,000 Italian-Americans?"

New Light on Newton's Discovery of Gravity

Izaak Walton, the comely angler, should not be confused with Sir Isaac Newton, the discoverer of the law of gravity. Perhaps this little story, which has never been told on them before, will keep them separate in the mind of the student.

Those two gentlemen were sitting on a river bank one day—Izaak fishing and Sir Isaac watching him. Suddenly an apple fell from an overhanging tree upon the head of the latter, evoking a sound which poverty is aware was far from hollow. After some language which virtually spoiled the fishing, Newton remarked to his companion:

"It has just struck me that it is very curious that apples do not fall upward. Why do you suppose that is not so?"

"For the same reason," laughed Walton ironically, "that the fish bites the worm and the worm doesn't bite the fish."

Then at one and the same time Newton demonstrated becoming gravity and Walton unbecomingly levity.—F. D. in Kansas City Star.

Changing Wavelength

The way it waddles back and forth is just one more reason for believing the wavelength is the line of least resistance.—Philadelphia North American.

Schools Must Teach 3 H's

Head, Hands and Heart Supplement the Three R's, Principal Van Ingen Tells P. T. A. of School No. 4.

The February meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 4 was held on Tuesday at 4 p. m. The meeting opened with an interesting program consisting of a piano solo by Ruth Marks, a reading by Harriet Edelstein and a two part song by pupils of the eighth grade.

It was decided to hold an entertainment for the benefit of the P. T. A. fund on March 6.

Principal Van Valkenburgh introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Principal B. C. Van Ingen, of the Kingston High School, who gave a stirring address on School and Occupations. Mr. Van Ingen said the needed thing in the business, social and political world is character and the fundamental and most important work of the schools is character building. A person cannot be really educated who is not developed mentally, morally, physically and spiritually.

The school should develop the three H's, head, hands and heart, as the president of Colgate University expresses it, a pupil should be made scholastically competent, physically fit and morally clean. The warden of Sing Sing prison stated in an interview that practically every prisoner in that institution was brought there through either heridity of bad home influences and a city judge gave these same reasons for the girls going wrong who came under his jurisdiction. Mr. Van Ingen said both the home and the school should stress filial love, respect for sacred things, courtesy and patriotism, also service, sympathy and tolerance. The average age of criminals during the past ten years has lowered five years, from 25 to 20, and Mr. Van Ingen called upon churches, schools, clubs, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and every organization to stand out strongly against this tendency to disrespect of law and order.

It used to be thought the three R's comprised everything necessary for young people to be taught but now people realize a pupil has a right to a much broader outlook upon life. He should be able to look into the sky and see more than its blueness, to look down into the earth and see the fingerprints of his Creator and the manual training department should teach more than the mere making of articles. The sewing class should learn about textiles, where grown, how manufactured and transported, the cooking class should know about food products, sanitation, etc. The boys should learn about different woods, iron and other metals, how prepared, etc. The commercial department should teach not only bookkeeping, typewriting and stenography, but office etiquette as well. Everyone should know not only what to do but why and wherefore and not be like the man who had worked for 45 years in a railroad shop at one job tapping wheels but did not know why he tapped them.

Mr. Van Ingen closed with the idea that every pupil should learn the value of a dollar, the value of a day's work and have an idea of progress in his work.

The next meeting of the association will be on Tuesday, March 2.

Quit Cabinet?

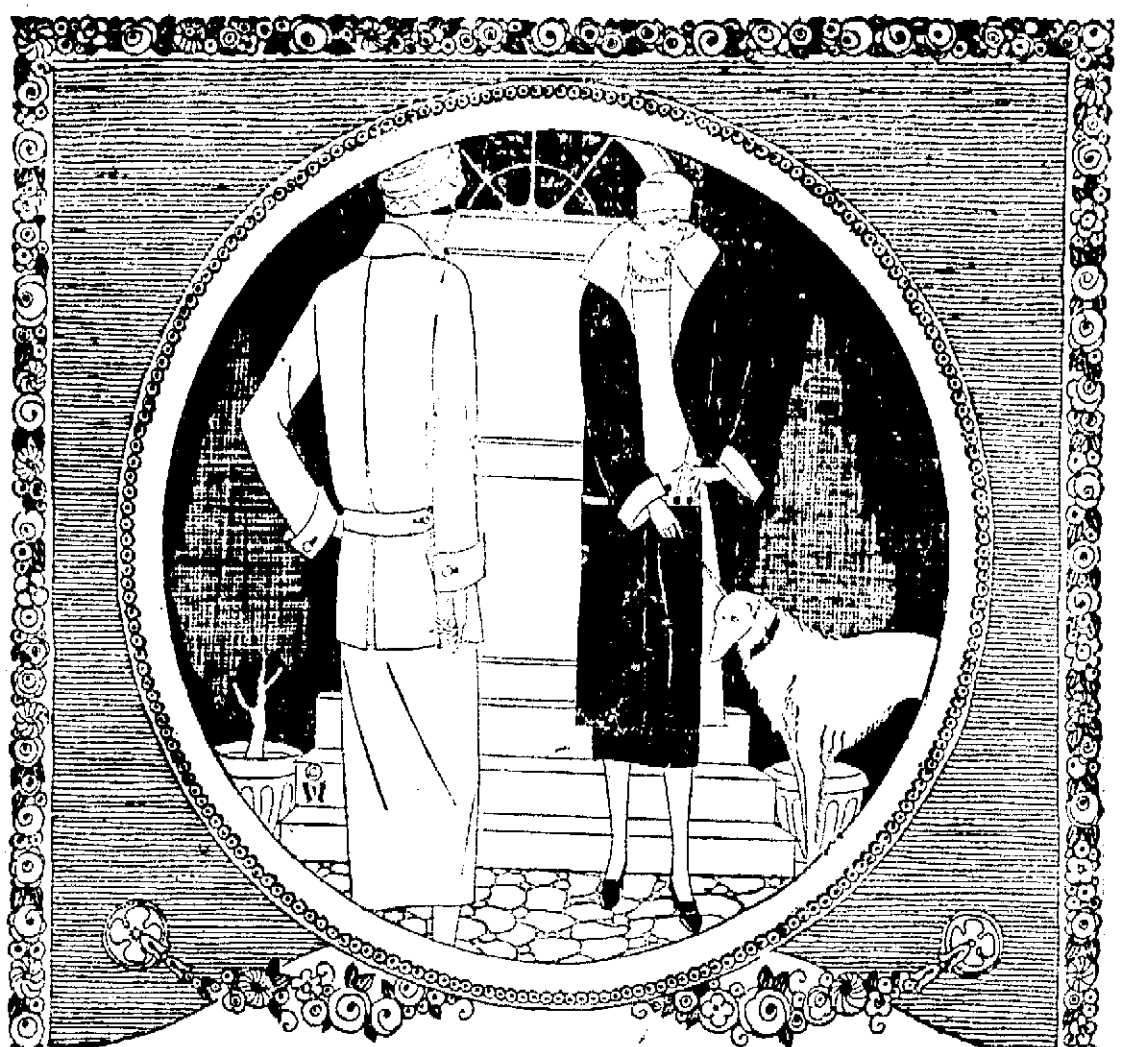

CURTIS D. WILBUR
JOHN W. WEEKS

According to Washington reports, Secretary of War John Weeks, and Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur have threatened to resign from the Coolidge Cabinet unless Army Gen. William Mitchell is discharged as Assistant Chief of the Army Air Service and thus automatically resigned in a cabinet. Mitchell has hitherto attracted both secretaries in his demand for a unified air service.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

The vaudeville program at the Kingston Opera House for the last half of the week is one of the best shows the management has put on in some time. At Thursday's performance large crowds were attracted.

At the Auditorium tonight Harold Lloyd will be seen in the feature picture, "Why Worry?" This picture is said to be one of the best ever appeared in.

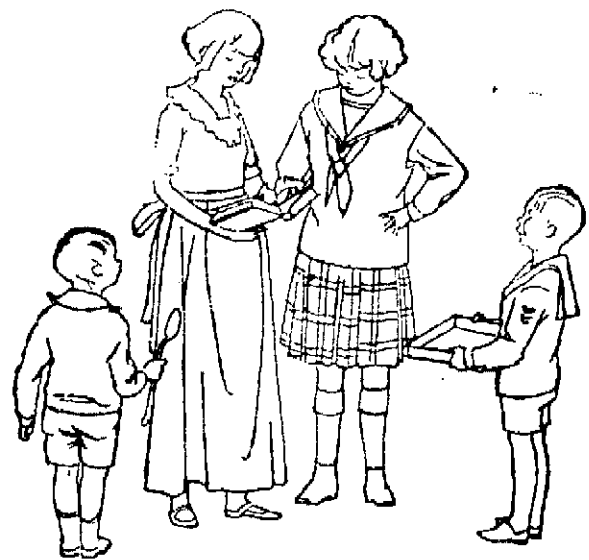

Richard Dix, as a newspaper reporter, in the way Paramount's newest star is found in "A Day's Work," which will be shown at the Auditorium tonight and tomorrow. The picture is a comedy and is said to be one of the best ever appeared in.

At the Auditorium tonight Harold Lloyd will be seen in the feature picture, "Why Worry?" This picture is said to be one of the best ever appeared in.

"Tarnish" is a story of a typical American boy and girl, and one of the most intense love dramas the screen has ever revealed. It is the feature attraction today and tomorrow at the Auditorium. Then there are five acts of vaudeville.

"Mix together two cups of sugar, half a cup of milk, one-eighth teaspoon Cream of Tartar, a teeny pinch of salt, and a lump of Snowdrift. Add three squares of chocolate (shaved). Boil until a little bit tried out in a cup of cold water forms a soft ball. Then take off the fire and add half a teaspoon of vanilla. Beat till it's creamy. Pour into shallow pans greased with Snowdrift, and mark off into squares."

Burial Presents Serious Problem

Paris Must Provide for 40,000 Interments a Year and Space is Lacking—Solutions Proposed—Perpetual Care of Plots Extremely Expensive.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Feb. 20.—All good Americans may not come to Paris when they die unless more burying grounds can be provided. Paris has a grim problem to solve—that of putting away her dead. She has to provide places for more than 40,000 interments a year and space is lacking. Land is already scarce and the absorption of precious ground for cemeteries cannot go on indefinitely. Ivory, Dayeux and Montparnasse have no more places to dispose of, but a plot of 100 hectares at Thiais, north of Paris, has been established to replace them.

An alternative solution is suggested in the resumption by the city after a period of seventy-five years of the 100-year burial plot concessions which have been abandoned. Out of 15,300 plots leased for more than seventy-five years in Pere Lachaise Cemetery, 52 per cent have been abandoned. And statistics show that out of 156,683 perpetual concessions existing in the nineteen burial grounds of Paris, 60 per cent are abandoned after 100 years. The depressing pictures of neglected graves could well be dispensed with.

To die is almost as dear as to live in the City of Light. Burial plots with perpetual care are extremely expensive and within reach of only the very wealthy or very thrifty. A bit of ground just large enough for one body costs much more than the average frugal family can save up. Luckily enough, it can be as deep as one wants, so the family is piled one on top of the other until all are under the sod.

ROAD BUILDING

SUPER HIGHWAYS TO MEET TRAFFIC NEEDS

A super highway plan for Detroit, to provide for transportation in the suburban area as the city expands, is proposed by the Detroit Rapid Transit Commission. The commission would have the city buy rights of way, before values rise, for a series of streets wide enough to carry four rapid transit lines, two roadways for fast moving automobiles and two roadways for slow moving vehicles, such as trucks.

Of chief interest to motorists is the proposal that the two motor speedways in each street be so built as not to be subject to interruption by cross traffic. According to the Engineering News-Record, separation of through from cross traffic would be accomplished by elevating the two motor speedways as well as the four rapid transit tracks above the cross streets at half-mile intervals. Crosstown traffic would pass under the motor and rapid transit lines through archways which would provide for access to the rapid transit stations. Thus foot passengers would not have to cross the motor speedway.

The super-highway district would be divided into areas three miles square, or of about nine square miles, bounded on all four sides by super-highways. The super-highway system would not include the thoroughfares through the subdivisions of those areas surrounded by the super-highways themselves, but the plan considers it desirable that the intermediate section line roads located on the mile divisions be made 120 feet wide and the half-mile streets be 88 feet wide. If the mile streets were given a width of 120 feet, then it would be practicable, if traffic conditions warrant, to convert them into express motor traffic streets by elevating the express lanes over the half-mile cross streets, as would be done in the case of the super-highway.

The advantage of this plan, it is explained, lies in the fact that besides providing a right of way for wide streets it also provides space for rapid transit lines in the center of these new highways, which can be built at grade when they are required, thus avoiding the necessity of building either subways or elevated railways. The cost of such rapid transit lines at grade is estimated at $1,100,000 a mile, as against $5,500,000 for similar four-track subways. So five miles of surface rapid transit could be built for the same money that would be required for one mile of subway if the new streets did not provide this space for rapid transit lines.

Of course, within the city proper, rapid transit lines would have to be built as subways. The plan recognizes this fact and provides for the transition from 120-foot streets with four-track subways to a 204-foot super-highway near the outskirts of the present city.

Automobile Highway to Peak of Rocky Mountains

Mount Cheyenne, the easternmost peak of the Rocky mountains, is to be conquered with an automobile highway. The mountain commands a wonderful view of the plains to the east, north and south. Its altitude is 8,150 feet.

To the west Pike's peak rises 14,100 feet. The auto highway up Pike's peak, which is 15 miles long, cost $500,000. The six and a third miles of highway to the summit of Mount Cheyenne will cost an equal sum. It is characterized by C. H. Bryson, an engineer, as the most difficult piece of highway work ever attempted.

Mount Cheyenne is one of the most conspicuous of all the Colorado mountains and is famous in paintings and poetry. Helen Hunt Jackson, the poet, was buried here for a time. She rested on its northern slope near the Seven Falls, at 7,000 feet altitude.

Improves Road Building

Since an instrument known as the vislog has been in use by the engineers of the highway department of New York state there has been reported considerable improvement in the construction work by contractors. This device, which measures accurately the surface irregularities of the Empire state's highways, is viewed by the department as one of its best inspectors.

Ontario Highway Plans

The province of Ontario will spend $30,000,000 within the next five years for the improvement and extension of provincial highways, according to an announcement made by Premier G. H. Ferguson in Toronto. There are already more than 1,000 miles of improved highway in the province and this is to be improved and added to substantially.

Best Results in Liming

Best results in liming are secured when the material can be thoroughly mixed with the soil by disk. Applications of lime are often made on stubble or sod land during the fall, or on wheat or rye in the winter. Full plowed land may be limed during the winter and the material disked in. In case a crop that particularly needs lime, such as alfalfa, is sown before the soil is disked over to be acid, a surface application of limestone will give satisfactory results.

FISH AND GAME REFUGES

Provided For in a Bill to Create a Conservation Fund.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, Feb. 20.—A bill to provide for the establishment of a state wide system of fish and game refuges and demonstration forests has been introduced in the legislature by Senator Truman and Assemblyman Robinson.

The bill amends the state finance law to provide for the creation of a conservation fund to consist of one-half of all the money turned into the state treasury by the conservation commission from the sale of licenses for hunting, trapping and fishing.

This money, after appropriation by the legislature is to be applied to the establishment and maintenance of a state wide system of fish and game refuges to promote public fishing and shooting, and a demonstration of forest management. Under the bill, land may be acquired for game farms, game refuges and forests wherein the state can demonstrate practical forest management. It also provides for securing game birds and animals and for their distribution; also for making biological surveys of waters and lands to determine the most practical methods of increasing fish and game production. One of the purposes of the bill is to prevent the extermination of certain species of game and game birds, both by propagation and by the establishment of game refuges and to increase the efficiency of the state's present method of planting fish by determining in advance just what waters are suited to certain varieties.

Broke One Day, Millionaire Next

Interesting Story by the Man Who Has Recovered a Judgment of $200,000,000 Against One of America's Big Industrial Corporations.

Obscure and "broke" one day. A millionaire and nationally known the next. This was the dramatic change fate dealt out to George Campbell Carson, 58, mining engineer of the old school, who Monday was awarded a $200,000,000 verdict by the United States circuit court of appeals of San Francisco against the American Smelting and Refining Company for alleged infringement of his patents.

Carson's invention has revolutionized the furnace treatment of ore. His process is used by all the great smelters of the country. Through it 700 tons of ore can be treated in a side-charging furnace as against only 240 tons by the old top-charging furnace. He first designed his furnace in 1906. It has taken nearly 20 years to secure the recognition that is his today.

The story of Carson's troubles through the years follows:

Carson's Own Story.
San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 20.—I was born in Kenton, Ohio, 58 years ago.

At 14 I left home and at 16 I was in Arizona working in the copper mines.

Watching the laborers feed the huge copper furnaces at top speed impressed me because of the waste of human energy as well as of money. These furnaces were fed from the top. I thought that perhaps by feeding them from the side would make the work easier for the men, save the lining of the furnace and economize ore.

Finally in 1906 the idea of the reverberatory side charging furnace took definite form in my mind. I was sure I had something worth while.

But nobody would let me try it out. From smelter to smelter I went, seeking a chance to show how my furnace would work.

I was frank and laid every detail open for consideration.

Matters drifted and I plodded along making a living here in San Francisco as a mining, metallurgical and chemical engineer.

In 1915 I happened to attend meetings of the American Society of Mining Engineers in New York.

An abstract was read describing a side charging furnace for the treatment of ore. I was certain that the process described was my own.

I investigated them there and took it up with the vice president of the American Smelting and Refining Company.

He is not now connected with that company.

This man told me my patent was worthless.

However, he said he represented not only his company but also the Phelps Dodge and Anaconda people, and that all three concerns were anxious to effect inventors.

And he tried to settle with me for $1,000. Then $2,000 and finally $3,000.

I refused any such settlement.

"If my patent is worthless as you say it is," I told this vice president, "it would be blackmail for me to accept your money. We will settle the value of my patent in court."

And I succeeded. It has taken years, but I have established my rights to a substantial compensation for what my invention has done.

The suit against the American Smelting and Refining Company is only one of nine suits pending against metal companies for infringement of my patents.

The American Smelting might appeal to the supreme court, but if they do the chances are one hundred to one against them.

What will I do now that I am rich? That's hard to say. I take life as it comes and do not worry about tomorrow until tomorrow comes around.

1925 Session in For Long Grind

Session For Next of His Only Important Measure Passed So Far By Legislature—Session Will Be Extended Into April.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 20.—Hope of bringing about final adjournment of the 1925 session of the Legislature by the latter part of March is fast fading. Republican leaders at the Capitol said today.

Six weeks have passed since the session opened and only one measure of any importance has been passed by both houses. That provides for a bonus for the next of kin of veterans of the world war.

The leaders now figure they will be doing pretty well if they get all the measures disposed of by the end of the first week in April. Some are inclined to think the session will run until the middle of April.

A majority of the bills that have already been passed provide for amendments to the conservation law.

For several years Governor Smith has contended that the conservation measures take up too much time in the Legislature. Consequently, he has recommended the creation of an advisory council of which the conservation commissioner would be the head, to have power to pass rules and regulations on conservation matters. This would eliminate the necessity of introducing anywhere from 100 to 200 conservation measures at every session of the Legislature, and also, according to the Governor, would save the state considerable money.

Three years ago the Legislature adjourned March 17 but that was the earliest it had quit in nearly a century. Last year the final gavel did not fall until the first week in May.

Only a few of the many recommendations made to the lawmakers by the Governor will receive favorable consideration, the Republican leaders indicated today.

The same thing happened last year despite the fact that the Democrats then were in control of the Senate. While the Senate passed all of the Governor's bill the Republican Assembly killed them, right and left.

Probably one of the most important of the Governor's measures which the Republicans have agreed to pass is that proposing an amendment to the constitution to permit the Legislature, over a period of ten years to appropriate $100,000,000 for public improvements. This proposal was adopted last year and it approved at the present session it can be submitted to the voters at the election this fall.

FUR IS NOT ABANDONED IN THE SOUTH.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

Among the clever fur ideas encountered of late, was a white fox which had undergone a successful operation and had had inserted a narrow strip of black fur in a straight line backward from his ears, for about eight inches. This particular fox had also rhinestone eyes, set on a disc of black velvet.

An evening wrap made of fringe upon fringe of ermine tails was unusual because the ermine had been dyed cocoa color, the darker tips retaining an effective note of contrast.

Beige caracul is a fur liked for southern wear, and for banding frocks there is a wide range from chinchilla to rabbit, but for trimmings are, however, secondary to ostrich for southern wear.

THE WHY, WHEN AND WHERE OF FASHIONS
Dress and Girdles.

Girdles and belts were, for many centuries during the middle ages, symbols of chaste virtue and true wifehood. It was a serious thing for a man to show a woman's belt, as it usually brought immediate reprisal. During the XII century, one of the most beautiful styles in belt design was noted. It was wound around twice, the dress if the dress is made with a gathered in the back, and tied low to the waist. It made with a wide band, and a small buckle. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes, 6 months, 1 year, 2, 3, and 4 years. A 2 year size requires 1/2 yard of 26 inch material for the drawers, 1 1/2 yard for the slip, and 1 1/2 yard for the dress. If the dress is made with a gathered in the back, and tied low to the waist, it made with a wide band, and a small buckle. The pattern is cut in 5 sizes, 6 months, 1 year, 2, 3, and 4 years. Chief Figures in News of the Day

Below: FRANK D. KELLOGG & BENITO MUSSOLINI

According to Washington dispatches, Frank D. Kellogg, who becomes Secretary of State on March 4, is sounding foreign nations as to their participation in a new arms reduction conference. Benito Mussolini, Fascist Premier of Italy, is rapidly recovering from a recent attack of illness. Gloria Swanson, American motion picture actress, who recently married the Marquis de la Falaise de la Courdraye in Paris, was operated on there on the day she was to have sailed for America. Mrs. Julius Kahn, widow of the San Francisco Congressman, who died recently, has been named in a special election to fill his seat.

Man Who Found Collins' Body

LIEUT. GOV. H. H. DENHART & ED. BRENNER

Lieutenant Governor H. H. Denhart, of Kentucky, brigadier general in command of the National Guard troops who maintained order around Sand Cave, Cave City, Ky., while rescuers sought to release Floyd Collins, imprisoned explorer, is shown congratulating Ed Brenner, the daring little miner who gave so much assistance in burrowing down to Collins' body and who risked his life to drop down into the opening to gaze first upon Collins' dead face. As the shaft was being sunk Brenner's courageous work made him one of the outstanding figures in the tragedy.

Span of Worth-While Life Has Increased

In the time of Caesar the average Roman lived only eighteen years. Most of the great heroes and villains of the French revolution had made their mark and gone to the guillotine before they were thirty-five. In medieval times the average age of the best known public figures was sixty-two years. Today the average age of our notables is seventy-one years.

Apparently this is not, as some say, the era of the young man. We are led for the most part by elder statesmen, elder corporation presidents, elder professors. There is comfort in that, too, for those of us who are not infant prodigies can cherish the hope that there is plenty of time ahead in which to make good.

The span of life, increasing century by century, gives splendid proof that science is worth while, that the race has taken thought for the morrow, that fatalism is a barren philosophy and that man can indeed lift himself by his mental bootstraps.

The chemist pottering with test tubes, the biologist losing himself in the jungle, the engineer digging the surgeon pointing the knife, the physicist weighing dust and moisture, these are the life bringers, building toward immortality.

Research goes on in the noble faith that there is more to know and much to do. And thereby babies that would have died are made to live, and minds and bodies that would have worn out at forty are hale and strong, doing their work and getting their fun in a world worth having.—Collier's Magazine.

Post Imported in 1885

The cotton boll weevil was originally Mexican, having been found around Monterrey, state of Coahuila, Mex., where as early as 1884 to 1885 it did such damage to cotton that cotton-growing there was abandoned. In 1895 the boll weevil crossed the Texas border into the United States. It crept steadily from year to year until, in 1902, it infected practically the entire cotton-growing region of the United States. The only extensive uninfested territory then in west and northwest Texas.

Conference Date Is April First

Local Methodists have been somewhat disturbed by reading in the current issue of the Christian Advocate that the opening date of the New York Conference, which will be held in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church on April 15. The Rev. R. A. Greenwell, pastor of the church, when the article was called to his attention, got in touch with the Board of Bishops and was informed that it was a misprint and that the date for the conference had not been changed but would be held commencing April 1, as previously announced.

Elks Celebrate Silver Jubilee

Celebration of Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Kingston Lodge, 550. H. P. O. E. Was Happy Event—Forty-eight Initiated.

The biggest social event in the history of Kingston Lodge, No. 550, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, took place Thursday night at the Elks' club house, the occasion being the observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the present lodge. It was the regular meeting night and forty-eight new members were initiated into the mysteries of the order.

After the business session, in the beautiful lodge room, the members adjourned to the spacious assembly hall on the second floor where a dinner was served. Five tables were stretched the full length of the room and about 500 Elks were seated at the tables. The bill of fare was roast turkey with dressing, mashed potatoes, new green peas, cranberry sauce, olives, mixed sweet pickles, coffee. The caterer was the Liberty Restaurant and two newly installed gas ranges were placed in an anteroom to keep the food hot. A corps of efficient colored waiters served.

After the dinner, Exalted Ruler Walter J. Miller introduced James A. Farley, president of the New York State Elks' Association, who made an address and also introduced William E. Fitzsimmons, chairman of the board of trustees of the New York State Elks' Association, who also spoke. The speakers congratulated Kingston Lodge on its reaching its silver jubilee, and spoke of its wonderful growth from 39 to a membership of about 1,000. They also complimented the local lodge upon its beautiful building and equipment throughout. Exalted Ruler Miller and past exalted rulers also spoke. Harry Maisenhelder's orchestra rendered a concert program during the evening, and vaudeville acts interspersed the evening events, under the direction of Al King. The artists were Jack Mahoney, popular songs; Frank Shannon, singer and monologist; Pete Griffin, dancer; the Hon. James Ward, monologist; the Musical Reises. It was about three o'clock this morning when lights were put out and the last of the "Best People on Earth" departed. The unanimous verdict of those who attended was that the anniversary was in every respect a most happy occasion.

Cake Sale Saturday.

Circle No. 1 of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church of the Comforter will hold a cake sale at the R-G-R store on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Ton of Gold

Allowing 2,000 pounds to the ton, and 16 ounces to the pound, a ton of gold would be worth about $640,000, for its assay weight is $20, plus, per ounce. That would make the average person weighing 160 pounds worth about $31,200, if they were given their weight in gold.

LATEST NEWS OF NEW YORK STATE FARM ORGANIZATIONS

Prepared for This Paper by the New York State Farm Bureau Federation, Ithaca, N. Y.

Land Bank Is Farmers' Mutual System; Not Political

The Federal Land banks are not government-owned, but a farmers' mutual system for farm mortgage loans, declared E. H. Thomson, president of the Springfield Federal Farm loan bank, before a Farmers' Week audience at Ithaca last week. Mr. Thomson stated that the farm loan banks are the only farmers' co-operative system operating in the northeast. He further stated that the federal treasury does not supply the money for the loans but that this money is secured through land bank bonds sold to the public. These bonds Mr. Thomson described as farm mortgages with coupons attached.

These farm loan bonds, he said, are secured by the farm mortgage, by the endorsement of the local farm loan association, by the assets of the lending bank, and by the assets of all the twelve farm loan banks in the United States.

Mr. Thomson was emphatic in his statement that the farm loan banks are in no way political or guided by political interests. He pointed out that the board of directors of the Springfield Land bank is composed of seven members, of whom three are elected by the local farm loan association, three are appointed by the Federal Farm loan board and the seventh is nominated by the farm loan association, and appointed by the farm loan board.

There are 140 local farm loan associations operating in the northeast and securing loans through the Springfield bank. A farmer wishing to borrow through this mutual system first makes application to the secretary-treasurer of the local farm loan association which is made up of borrowers in that community or county. This application is handed to the local loan committee, men supposed to know the values in that district, and this committee visits the property and makes a report to the board of directors of the local association. After they have passed on it, if it is approved, the application is sent to the Springfield bank where it is examined and handed to a federal appraiser who visits the property and makes a careful and detailed report to the bank. The appraiser's report is then examined at the bank by an executive committee. If found satisfactory, the loan is approved and the borrower is notified of the amount he can get.

Mr. Thomson said that there is sometimes considerable delay after the loan is approved before the farmer secures his money because the titles to the land are very often not clear. "A farm that has been in a family for a century may have as poor a title as one which has changed hands many times in that period," said Mr. Thomson. "Two to three per cent of the loans requested are rejected because of poor title."

The co-operative feature of the land bank lies in the fact that every farmer borrower takes 5 per cent of his loan in stock in the bank. At the present time $1,800,000 worth of stock in the bank is owned by farmers, the balance of $504,130 being held by the U. S. treasury.

Babcock Advises Farmers' Week Visitors on Retail Supply Service

The wholesale purchase of farm supplies and local distribution which includes only the services for which farmers can afford to pay are the two chief ways of reducing the farm supply bill, according to H. E. Babcock, general manager of the G. L. F. Exchange. Mr. Babcock was a speaker at Farmers' Week at Ithaca last week on the subject "Ways to Reduce the Farm Supply Bill." Mr. Babcock told his audience that New York farmers have set up the necessary facilities for supplying themselves with quality feed, seed and fertilizer but that they have made it necessary to spend large amounts of money to get them to use these facilities.

In discussing local service on farm supplies, Mr. Babcock declared that a local farmers' co-operative organization must seek first of all volume of business and not depend upon speculative buys to reduce the cost of farm supplies. The manager of a local co-operative may occasionally make a good speculative buy, said Mr. Babcock, but he cannot beat the world at that game.

The speaker gave this advice to those in his audience who were contemplating setting up local co-operative service. "First," he said, "raise all the money you can in the beginning. It is difficult to get it after you are set up. Second, don't tie it up in dead assets. Rent your store and use your capital for your supplies. Third, when you stock do not try to meet the whims of every man in the community. Keep your stock small and confine it to the things on which there is a good profit standard demand. Fourth, when you start doing business do not try to combine buying and retail service. You cannot do both successfully. Grant credit for a limited period and treat the fellow who pays cash a little better on price than the man who does not. Fifth, get a manager who will have an objective handling 2,000 tons of feed at $3 rather than 800 tons at $2."

Women Lose In Suffrage Fight

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 20.—Women lost her battle for immediate equal suffrage in England when the House of Commons today passed the administration amendment to the electoral bill, 226 to 153.
This action has the effect of delaying the electoral reform in behalf of the women until possibly 1929.
The "immediate suffrage" amendment was submitted by Whiteley, Laborite. It provided for the enfranchisement of all women over 21.
The government opposed the measure on the grounds that it was customary to submit any reform bill affecting a large number of people just before the general election.
The government amendment providing that the suffrage bill be studied and the electoral reform be proposed by the government later seemed almost certain of passage for some time past.
Liberals joined with Laborites in their attack on the government's amendment to the bill, which they charged was an attempt to evade the premier's pre-election pledge. Lady Astor and other Tories were critical of the measure.

$400,000 Art Treasures Stolen

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, Feb. 20.—Nation-wide search was launched today for the theft of art treasures valued at more than $400,000 which were stolen from the palatial residence of Martin Weinschenck, noted collector.
"Boy Blowing Bubbles" by Murillo and "Vocal Lessons" by Metius, world famous paintings valued at close to $175,000, were among the pictures discovered missing by Weinschenck.
Coell's "Daughter of Philip II of Spain," valued at $135,000, was stolen with a dozen smaller paintings, which were all expertly cut from their frames.
Valuable lace was also taken.
The collection was brought here from Germany.
Weinschenck was on a visit to Catalina Island when the art bandits raided his home.

Odds and Ends

A pinocchio party will be held at Mechanics' Hall, Henry street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The public is invited.
The St. Mary's Rosary Society are requested to meet at the home of their late sister, Mrs. Catherine Burns, 333 Abel street, this evening, at 8 o'clock to recite the Rosary.
Starter Needed
A very handsome woman was "slumming" downtown one day, holding her skirts from the grime and dirt of the lower East side, when a little urchin came up in front of her, holding a large green, unripe apple. He had lost several front teeth and the process of getting the first bite into it proved too much for him. He looked the lady over carefully and then thrust the apple toward her and said: "Missus, would you please start this for me?"

State Drive Against Taximen

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 20.—A state wide drive was launched today by inspectors of the state motor vehicle bureau in cooperation with police officials to see that drivers of taxicabs were properly licensed and bonded.
Thirty taxi drivers were taken to police headquarters here for questioning when they were unable to produce proper credentials.
Reports from Schenectady, Troy and other cities in this section were that many drivers were being arrested in connection with the drive.
Officials of the state motor vehicle bureau declared the crusade would be continued until a check up could be made of every taxi driver in the state.

Society Notes

Delightful Subscription Dance.
A delightful subscription dance was given Thursday evening at the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium under the auspices of the following committee: G. Wallace Codwise, Thomas A. Horton, Harold King, John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., Charles A. Warren, Richard C. Washburn and Stephen D. Hillebrand. Music was furnished by Zita's Orchestra of Albany and during the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. Daley.
Wedding Anniversary.
Thursday evening a large number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Streeter, 227 Smith avenue, in honor of their seventeenth wedding anniversary. Singing, games, dancing, selections on the Edison phonograph and piano and other amusements were enjoyed by all. At about midnight dainty refreshments were served. At the conclusion of a most pleasant evening the guests left for their homes, wishing the host and hostess many more happy wedding anniversaries.

Entertained Friends.

Miss Josie Hornbeck very pleasantly entertained a number of her friends Thursday evening, at her home, 32 Downs street. The evening was spent in games and dancing. Refreshments were served at a late hour, after which all departed for their homes declaring Miss Hornbeck and her mother royal entertainers. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sagendorf, Mr. and Mrs. James Waldin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Umpleby, Mrs. Duffy, Miss Peters, Mrs. Sara Young, Mrs. M. DePuy, Mrs. Edith DePuy, Mrs. Frances Angie, Miss Josie Hornbeck, Hugh Bogel, Donald MacLeod, Charles Hardie, Francis Sagendorf, Harry Baudouin and Mrs. Wright.

Congress Votes Salary Increase

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 20.—Congress voted today to raise its own salary.
By a vote of 227 to 93 the house passed the Senate bill under which salaries of members of the House and Senate are raised from $7,500 to $10,000 a year.
As the bill has already passed the Senate, it is now up to President Coolidge to decide whether the increases are justified. It has been reported that he will veto such a bill.
The measure also provided for increasing the salaries of cabinet members, the speaker of the house and the vice-president from $12,500 to $15,000 a year.
Opponents of the measure, who described it as a "grab bill," were unable to secure a roll call on the proposition and the vote was taken by a standing count.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.
Mary H. Carpenter, a former resident of Port Ewen, who died at Bellevue Hospital, New York city, on Tuesday, February 17, following an operation, had many friends in Port Ewen and this vicinity, whom she won by her genial and pleasant manner. For some time she and her mother were in charge of the Port Ewen post office at which they gave very efficient service. Miss Carpenter leaves to mourn her loss one brother, Edward Carpenter of Bayard street, Port Ewen, and one sister, Miss Belle Carpenter of Long Island. The funeral which was private was held at the home of Mrs. Oswald Neher on Bayard street, Port Ewen, Friday. Interment in the family plot at Port Ewen. Miss Carpenter was a member of Episcop Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty.
The many friends of Mrs. Robert Sheeley in New York were shocked in learning of her sudden death Monday morning, February 16, at her home in Cornwall. She had been ill only a few days with intestinal grip. Mrs. Sheeley before her marriage was Miss Jennie Force, daughter of George Force and Elmira Burke Force, of the locality of New Paltz. She had resided about twenty years in Cornwall where she also has a host of friends. Mrs. Sheeley was president of the Parent-Teacher Association in that town and was active in civic and religious work and a member of the Methodist Church. She was born in Ulster county in April, 1879. The funeral was held Thursday, February 19, at her home. Interment in Lloyd cemetery. Her husband and a daughter, Helen, a student in Syracuse University, survive, beside other near relatives.

Connects Common Word With Interesting Story
Probably none of our readers think of "sack" as a word in any way remarkable, but Dr. C. G. Williamson in his book "Curious Survivals" reminds us that the word has a strange origin and is connected with a curious story.
"We probably got that word 'sack,'" he says, from a Coptic or Egyptian word "sok," which means a kind of canvas or cloth from which a bag was made. The word survives sackcloth.
The story is that the word "sok" was the last word uttered before the tongues were confounded at Babel and that consequently it appears in every language in an almost identical form. Curiously enough, the second statement is true.

The Irish "sac" is the same as the French word; the Latin "saccus" is closely related to the Italian "sacco" and to the Spanish "saco." In Greek it is "sakchos," in Hebrew "sak" or "sag," in Egyptian or in Coptic "sok," and the same word appears in many other languages without any real change. In slang or colloquial talk we now apply it in quite another fashion; when we talk of a person's getting the sack we intend delicately to intimate that he has been discharged from his employment. That use we probably derive from the Turkish custom of getting rid of undesirable persons by putting them into a sack and throwing them into the Bosphorus.—Youth's Companion.

Large and Small Same
Small Conscience Fund
At the United States Treasury department in Washington there is a conscience fund and it is growing rapidly. Conscience-stung individuals from all sections of the country, and even in foreign lands, frequently send in sums of money to make good friends that they have perpetrated on Uncle Sam. Since the first contribution of five dollars more than 100 years ago, the fund has grown to nearly $500,000. Those who contribute to this fund hardly ever give their authentic names, and few go to the trouble to explain how they came to voluntarily give into possession of government property or money.
These contributions have varied from a one-cent postage stamp to $50,000. At the present time the annual receipts are said to amount to over $5,000. The largest contribution, that of $50,000, was accompanied by a brief note stating that it was the final installment on an $50,000 payment, which was four times the amount the maker had stolen. The most frequent contributors to this fund are little children who send a few cents to make good cancelled postage stamps which they have used illegally. These small contributions, it is said, are often accompanied by the most pathetic notes showing the mental tribulation suffered by the writers.—Portland Advertiser.

DAIRY FACTS

CLEANLINESS QUITE IMPORTANT ON FARM

One of the things which should receive first consideration in dairy farming for the production of a high quality of milk or cream is cleanliness, with special reference to clean barns, clean milking practices and clean utensils.
It is very essential that the barn be kept clean. The manure should be removed at least once each day. Cobwebs and dust should not be allowed to accumulate. Whitewashing the interior of the barn at least once a year is a cheap means of improving the appearance and sanitary conditions. There should be plenty of fresh air, and flies should be kept out as nearly as possible. Some people have screened their barns against flies.
Before milking begins, the cow's udder and flanks should be wiped off, preferably with a damp cloth. The milking should always be done with dry, clean hands. It is a filthy habit to milk with wet hands, and it is a mistaken idea that milking with wet hands makes milking easier. As a matter of fact, in cool weather not only is it hard on the milker, but it also has a tendency to cause the cow's teats to become sore. It is well to strain the milk immediately through a clean cloth, or preferably, through a blue mesh gauze strainer.
All utensils which come in contact with milk and cream should be kept clean at all times. It is well to use pails with a partly covered top, because this keeps out 50 per cent of the dirt and other impurities which would otherwise get into the milk. Milk pails and other utensils should be free so far as possible from crevices where dirt may lodge and be hard to remove. Cream separators and other dairy utensils should always be cleaned properly immediately after use. The washing can best be done by first rinsing the utensils in cold water and then washing in hot water containing grease-free washing powder. This should be followed by rinsing in scalding water, after which they should be placed in the sun to dry.

Common Scrub Cows Can Be Graded Up Quickly

No experiment station has demonstrated more conclusively than the Iowa experiment station that common scrub cows can be graded up in a comparatively short time and that from ordinary scrubs, bred to registered sires, high producing herds can be established in a comparatively short time. Some years ago, the Iowa experiment station purchased some scrub cows from Arkansas. They were about as poor a lot of cows as one could find anywhere, although under good management as to feed and care they improved very rapidly in milk production. The production of milk and fat was probably fully 40 per cent higher after good feeding than it had been in their original homes, but even at that their average yield was only 188 pounds of fat and 4,034 pounds milk during the first year.

Don't Overfeed Calves During First Two Weeks

Calves from the modern, highly domesticated dairy cow get too much nourishment in the first two weeks of their lives. That, as much as any one factor, explains why mortality rates are higher for calves, comparatively, than for other classes of stock.
Improvement in the digestive ability of the calf has not kept pace with the increasing richness of the milk. As a result a calf, if allowed free access to the cow for the first two weeks, will often overeat.
The best way to control this is to reduce the amount of milk given the calf at first. Increase the milk ration gradually as the calf grows older, and add a little alkali, such as sodium bicarbonate, to neutralize the acids formed by the excess of fat in the milk.

Dairy Notes

It's never too late to start keeping records on your cows.
A warm cow may not always be contented, but a contented cow is always warm.

It may not be necessary to feed grain after the calf has reached a year old if it is on good pasture.

A good ration may not make a poor cow profitable, but may make a lot of difference in the returns from a good cow.

The silo is indispensable for cheap milk production.

Start the new year right by keeping daily milk records and feeding each cow in proportion to her production and size.

A grain ration consisting of 20 pounds cracked corn, 20 pounds oats, 20 pounds bran and 10 pounds oil-meal makes an excellent mixture for calves getting mixed clover and timothy hay.

Thoughts of Trouble
We should also think over the troubles for we should think over our whole life. The greatest and good-ness of this—along to us only at this price. They make us for disconcert-ment and give value to existence.—John Flannery.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 20.—Trading in the stock market today centered around a number of the active industrial and railroad stocks and prices mounted in some cases to record high prices.
Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Common stock on a spectacular run-up to 50%, an advance of seven points from the low of the week, sold at the highest point since listing on the stock exchange in 1917. Rumors of a merger with Southern Pacific accompanied the heaviest trading in this stock in many a day. New Haven at 34%, was within a fraction of its highest price since 1919.

Urgent buying of Baldwin, which soared to 142 1/4, up 16 points from the low of the week, was the feature of the industrial list.
Strong forward movements continued in the high priced industrial specialty stocks. American Locomotive was up 4 at 124; American Can up 3; Savage Arms 4 1/4; Mack Trucks 2; Sears Roebuck up 5; General Electric up 3; DuPont up 2; Tobacco stocks continued their vigorous rally.
Pan-American was the solitary representative of the oil stocks in the forward movement of prices. In expectation of an advance in the dividend rate, today both the A and B stocks gained 3 points in extremely active trading.
Motor stocks, the sugars, the shipping stocks and the majority of the rails were lower.

American Smelting and Refining and Cerro de Pasco led the copper stocks in a moderate recovery, and American Steel Foundries was the leader in the independent stocks with an advance of 3 points to a new high at 51 1/2. American Safety Razor jumped 5 points to a new high at 45 on rumors of a higher dividend rate than was carried on the old stock. Beechnut Packing gained 1/4 points at 70 1/4. Universal Pipe had another active day. Cast Iron Pipe was inactive.
Grain markets were steady. Cotton was inactive and irregular. Foreign exchange was unsteady. Call money ruled at 3 per cent.

Might Have Been Worse
It was toward the end of a theatrical performance when one man turned to another and said in a harsh, grating voice: "Look here, you have sat on my silk hat. It is ruined."
The other looked at the silk hat. It was indeed a wreck. "I am sorry," he said. "This is too bad, but," he added, "it might have been worse."
"How might it have been worse?" exclaimed the first man angrily.
"I might have sat on my own hat," came the unfeeling reply.—Yorkshire Post.

The "Widow's Mite"
A widow had to dig deep when she gave $1 to the cashier of a fund for a destitute family in Indianapolis. The envelope bore in pencil, "One dollar for building fund for destitute family. No name." Apparently she had dug deep into a little store of money, for in the envelope was a crisp note of 50 cents denominated, of an issue of 1863; a 3-cent piece, whose date was obscure, but seemed to be 1868; two half-dimes, one dated 1858 and the other 1841; a Canadian half-dime of 1856; a two-cent stamp and a modern nickel and a modern quarter.

Revoked Tiano's License to Drive

After a Trial in Police Court Judge (Groves Found East Kingston Man Guilty of Reckless Driving, Fined Him $15 and Revoked His License.

Louis Tiano of East Kingston was found guilty of reckless driving and was fined $15 and had his license to drive a car revoked after a trial before Judge Robert G. Groves in police court today.

Tiano was arrested Thursday afternoon by Percy Jones of 135 Pine street, following an automobile collision on Broadway, near Henry street, between a car driven by Jones and the truck driven by Tiano.

Jones was driving a car owned by William R. Kraft of this city, while Tiano was driving his own truck. The two cars came together near the store of A. H. Gildersleeve.

Tiano was represented by Attorney Walter J. Miller while The People were represented by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood. Several witnesses were sworn and testified to the facts of the collision, and at the close of the testimony Judge Groves took the action stated.

Elmore Fined $3.

Edward C. Elmore of New Paltz was arrested by Officer Rodell on Thursday for failure to obey a traffic signal at the Rondout Creek Bridge. Judge Groves fined Elmore $3, which he paid.

Ray Winne Arrested.

Ray Winne was arrested Thursday on a warrant obtained by Margaret Kemper of 108 North Front street, who charged him with defrauding her out of a board bill. The case will come up later in police court.

A Coffee Social.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the South Rondout Methodist Church will hold a coffee social at the home of Mrs. Charles Becker on Tuesday afternoon and evening, February 24. Ice cream will also be on sale. All are invited to come and have a social time.

Caucus at Ellenville.

The Republican electors of the village of Ellenville will hold a caucus at Hunt Memorial on Monday evening, February 23, at 7:30 o'clock. Candidates for the offices of village president, two trustees, collector, assessor and treasurer are to be nominated.

Phonon Dance Tonight.

This evening a dance will be held in Pythian Hall in Port Ewen by the Hasbrouck Engine Company of Connelly. The proceeds will be used to purchase a radio for the engine house. The music for dancing will be furnished by Zucca's orchestra.

Eat Lemons for Health

Lemons are a specific in biliousness. If eaten at first symptoms they will often avert the attack. They are recommended for rheumatism, colds and low fevers. They are excellent for liver complaints, and nothing will so satisfy the thirst in illness as lemons. A noted specialist made the statement: "If more lemons were eaten, there would be less work for the doctors."

$275,000 For State Celebration

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 20.—The board of regents is authorized to expend $275,000 to promote a state wide celebration of the 150th anniversary of the American revolution, under a bill introduced today by Senator Wales, Republican of Broome.

The measure directs the board to cooperate with localities, appoint committee and have general supervision over the event. The sum of $40,000 is made available on July 1, for use during the next fiscal year.

Charcoal

Charcoal is the form of amorphous carbon obtained by strongly heating wood. If required for fuel it can be obtained by the partial combustion of wood in heaps. The wood, cut into convenient and uniform lengths, is systematically piled in a mound-shaped heap with provision made for draft. The mound is covered with earth, except a small opening at the top. This is a charcoal kiln. When completed it is fired, and by means of slow combustion the wood is converted into charcoal, which is usually almost dead black in color and much lighter in weight than wood. That is the old way of producing charcoal.

Alaskan "Dog Car"

Almost every conceivable type of transportation is used to move the mails—railroads, steamboats, automobiles, airplanes, motor boats, wagons, horses, pneumatic tubes, belt conveyors, motorcycles, bicycles, the sled of the arctic, and even the "dog car," the Detroit News says.

The "dog car" is an Alaskan invention. An abandoned railroad runs out of Nome to a mining camp. The enterprising arctic circle mail man hitches his dog team to a hand car and scoots up the mountain side with the post.

Dr. Hawkins on Lobar Pneumonia

New York City Specialist Gave Interesting Address to Members of Kingston Academy of Medicine at City Hall Thursday Evening.

Dr. James Clement Hawkins, visiting pediatrician at Fordham Hospital, New York city, gave a most interesting and instructive address on "Lobar Pneumonia in Children; its Diagnosis and Treatment," to members of the Kingston Academy of Medicine and nurses from the Benedictine and Kingston City hospitals at the city hall Thursday evening.

Dr. Hawkins, who is a specialist in the disease, gave one of the finest and most instructive talks heard in some time here. He took up first a discussion of the germs that caused the disease, and then the diagnosis of pneumonia. The symptoms of the disease were such that in diagnosing it physicians were sometimes of the impression that the patient was suffering from an attack of appendicitis. He discussed very thoroughly the differential diagnoses and also the leading signs by which it was known, and warned of the very treacherous nature of the disease.

Pneumonia was also very infectious, and great care should be taken in the sick room to avoid others becoming ill with the disease. The treatment of pneumonia was very fully outlined, and Dr. Hawkins during the course of his address gave a number of valuable illustrations as to the best means of controlling the disease.

The address was one of the best that has been presented before the Academy of Medicine and was thoroughly appreciated by the large gathering of physicians and nurses.

The mesquite trees have such well-developed root systems that they are often called "underground forests."

Home Bureau Food Preparation

Prof. Lucile Brewer, food preparation specialist from Cornell University, will be in Kingston Saturday, at which time she will demonstrate how to prepare an entire meal using as its basis cheese. Prof. Brewer is well known throughout Ulster county as well as throughout New York state and it is hoped that no one will miss this wonderful opportunity of getting this splendid information. The meeting is expected to be interesting as well as instructive.

The morning session will be in the Holy Cross Parish House on Pine Grove avenue beginning at 10 o'clock and is open to everyone. The afternoon session will be for the food preparation leaders and will be held in the Home Economics Laboratory of the Kingston High School.

Charity Ball at Armory Tonight

Arrangements Completed For Knights of Columbus Ball Tonight at Armory—Record Crowd Expected to Attend.

The doors at the armory will be opened wide this evening, to admit the expected record crowd in attendance at the annual ball of Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, the proceeds of which will go toward its non-sectarian charity fund.

A large corps of workers have put the finishing touches to the decorations, which promises to be unique. The attractive booths have been stocked with the articles always in demand at social affairs. The refreshment committee has its work completed and is ready to serve the large crowds. The floor and reception committee will arrive early tonight, as the doors open at 6:30 o'clock, to seat rapidly and in an orderly manner the usual crowd.

The Imperial Broadcasting Orchestra of this city and the Broadway Serenaders of New York city will render the concert numbers and following the entertainment will apply music for the assembly dancing. With these orchestras playing the latest dance numbers, this part of the evening's program should be a marked success.

This year's entertainment, from the artists appearing on the program, should eclipse anything ever before attempted along this line. The addition of Zeina Thelma, soprano from the Chicago Opera Company and Jane Berkley, novelty dancer from Ted Lewis's Parody Club of New York, will be greeted with great pleasure. Others appearing on the program include Marion Koslova, pupil of Anna Pavlova, a celebrated toe dancer, who will introduce some new dance creations, including her newest success, "The Peacock Strut"; and Whelan, Noll and Kinney will render a program of their original song successes. Other numbers include Adrian and Abulia, contortionists, and Force and Lew, in a dancing specialty number.

And Then What? Mr. Meyer, smitten with the charms of an unknown, strove vainly to make her acquaintance. At last she entered a restaurant and Meyer boldly sat at her table. He ordered two coffees with two portions of cake, tarts, etc. The woman remarked in a mild voice: "Make it three. My husband will be here in a few minutes."—Munich Jugend.

Courageous The common house fly has what might be called "nerve." It isn't afraid of anything. It walks over your nose, flies away when your big hand comes that way, and then returns to your nose as if nothing had happened. The house fly is said to fear nothing except tobacco smoke.

Yankees Will Start Veterans

Average Age of Eighteen of Manager's Players is Thirty Years—Each Has a Good Season Left and Should Go Strong.
(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 20.—The New York Yankees, or the first section thereof, will depart today for their training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., highly esteemed by local gentlemen of the press as champions-in-prospect for 1925.

The writer does not concur with these findings. He is pleased to believe that the Yankees shot their bolt when they failed to win their fourth straight pennant last year. Time has placed its inevitable hallmark upon many an honest countenance, and as they move about, each creaking joint sends out a plaintive call for help. The Yankees lack that schoolgirl complexion.

The worthy Miller Huggins has sensed the situation from afar and in the unusually ample squad of forty at the camp will be many a callow youth. However, our Mr. Huggins probably will open the season with the same line up that finished the 1924 campaign.

I have selected off-hand eighteen men, who, in all likelihood, will be among the first string array and find that their average age is 30 years. In baseball, one of ten becomes a demitauque at thirty.

Only six of the eighteen selected, to wit: Joe Dugan, 27; Aaron Ward, 28; Whitney Witt, 26; Bob Meusel, 28; Walter Hoyt, 25 and Earl Combs, 23, remain on the sunny side of baseball's invisible deadline, and of these, Combs is the only one who comes under the head of new blood. The others, in spite of their tender years, have been around for quite some time.

Dugan, for example, came up to the Athletics eight years ago. Ward has been with the Yankees since 1918; Witt with the Athletics since 1916 while Hoyt got a trial with the Giants nine years ago at the age of 16. An exception is Meusel, who came up in 1920, and apparently still faces a long, straight road.

But some of the others are positively ancient. Wally Schang broke in 12 years ago and is 35; Bob Shawkey with the Athletics of 1912 is the same age; Herb Pennock at thirty one can look back on 12 years of big league baseball and was one of Eddie Plank's pupils; Ruth is 31 but still at the peak; Steve O'Neil is 33 and passes; Sam Jones and Urban Shocker are 32 and have begun to slip; Everett Scott at 32 seems to have slowed down considerably; Wally Pipp is 32 while Ernie Johnson and Howard Shanks, utility infielders, are 35 and 34, respectively.

All of them may have at least one good season left, but a collapse in any one sector might be enough to defeat the Yankees' pennant hopes. The Senators, of course, are far from youthful themselves, but unfortunately they are not the only outfit the Yankees will have to beat.

DEMPEY TO TAKE OUT BOXING LICENSE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, Feb. 20.—Belief that Jack Dempsey intends to become a docile married man and director of a gymnasium do luxe was dispelled today when he visited the offices of the California Boxing Commission and made inquiries concerning a boxing license.

"I intend to take out a license in a few days," the champion said. "Whether I ever have occasion to use said license, is another question. There's not a blooming thing in sight right now but we're hoping."

Dempsey said he would go into active training next Wednesday in his new gymnasium.

"I'm quite a few pounds over weight and want to get into shape whether or not I ever fight again," the champion said.

FRISCH IS HOLDING OUT FOR $25,000

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 20.—Frank Frisch, star infielder and captain of the New York Giants, has taken Rogers Hornsby's salary as the goal of his holdout campaign against his club, according to reports in circulation today. Hornsby's contract is said to call for $25,000 a season, and since John McGraw, was quoted as saying two years ago that he wouldn't trade Frisch for Hornsby even up; it is understood that the local star wants the same money.

Frisch will leave tomorrow with the first squad of Giants for Sarasota, Fla., where he hopes to reach an understanding with McGraw.

Washington to Have Big Athletic Club

Washington will have an athletic club fashioned somewhat along the lines of the famous National Sporting Club of London, England, if the plans of a number of business men in Washington materialize. While the proposition is not carefully worked out as yet it is known that interests have been looking for a site for the club as well as for a number of men to become interested in the organization.

Interest in boxing, wrestling, basketball and other indoor sports events has prompted a small gathering of men to look over the field with the idea of chartering an athletic club, getting a healthy membership and then putting the idea across.

MUNN'S WIFE MADE HIM USE HIS PLAY

Spouse of Wrestler Advised Him to Take Up Athletics.

An indomitable preference for play over business and the sanctioning of his four-foot-two-inch wife led Wayne ("Big") Munn to thrust his eighth of a ton of inactivity into professional competition and wrestle his way to a world championship after 30 mat contests.

The conqueror of Ed ("Strangler") Lewis told of his metamorphosis from a Sioux City (Iowa) oil salesman to professional pugilist and then champion wrestler.

In 1919, after Munn returned from military service, he embarked in the business of representing an oil refining company, but the desire for play, instead of grinding his nose on the business stone, was too great. In his University of Nebraska days he had reveled in playing football, basketball and track and field sports and was "blond daffy," as he expressed it, about wrestling.

"That's where my wife comes in," Munn said. "She counseled in this way: 'Well, if you like athletics better than you do business, get yourself a job in athletics. You can't do both—play when you are supposed to work.'"

"What she advised was the truth. Whenever there was a basketball game or a football game anywhere near Sioux City I was off to compete, instead of attending to business. Finally, taking her advice, I quit business and went in for athletics."

Munn refused to admit it was his wife who advised him to take up a career as a boxer. The records say Munn, in the ring'siders' language, was a "hop" as a fighter. In his very first professional engagement he was knocked out by a third-rater. When his dizzy brain ceased swimming Munn automatically decided fighting was no business for him.

Wrestling has not been financially remunerative and Munn is starting his championship reign "flat broke."

The wrestling king put it this way: "I never felt better, but I never had less."

After taking up professional wrestling he was a preliminary performer until his big shot came when he engaged Lewis in Kansas City. The gate nearly hit the $40,000 mark, but Munn's share, after paying training expenses, wrestling partners, splitting with his manager and what not, was reduced to a small roll with no crinkling fifties or hundreds in the middle.

Uncle Robbie sent this cryptic 1925 baseball message to the fans: "Watch the Dodgers and the Senators."

He bases his belief that these nines will bear observation on the portside strength of the batteries of both. Always a strong believer in the left-handed delivery, he contends that his troubles will be at an end and that the coveted strip of muslin will flutter over Brooklyn if he can but develop one good pitcher from the sixteen rookie pitchers who will act as understudies to his four regular hurlers.

"My team is intact," said the veteran pilot. "Last year I left-handed McGraw's club to death and this year I expect to hand them the same medicine. Even Babe Ruth don't like to have a ball come at him from the funny side."

Doak is Good.

"Bill" Doak, the old spit-ball artist, is going to be a thorn in the side of the opposition. There are few of them left and new pitchers are not allowed to moisten the ball, so that makes Bill especially valuable.

"Den Egan is going to be a great help in catching the rookie twirlers. Outfielder Cox, who played such a great game for the Portland Club, is going to be a great help for the defense."

"I may play Cotton Tierney at third, as he is a little too slow for second and the hot corner does not require as much speed as in the old days."

"Yes, you may tell the boys that everything looks rosy and I'm feeling fine."

"Robbie" Hopeful Of "Left Handing"

His Way to Pennant This Season—Believes Dodgers and Senators Will Play in World Series.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Baltimore, Md. Feb. 20.—Uncle Wilbert Robinson, gaining weight after convalescing at Union Memorial Hospital almost as rapidly as he lost it during his recent illness of pleurisy, is looking forward to the "Ides of March," with an anticipation almost as great as the apprehension with which the late Julius Caesar regarded the same season.

For to Uncle Robbie the month that comes in like a lamb chop and goes out like a hamburger steak means freedom from doctors, nurses and anesthetics and means restoration of his constitutional right to watch his rookie pitchers strain their arms in trying to make a round ball travel in circles.

Uncle Robbie has gotten back thirty-five of the sixty pounds he lost during the illness that followed his hunting trip in September. Several days ago he tipped the beam at 215 and his appetite was hearty. Dr. J. M. T. Finney, eminent surgeon of the Monumental City, has promised him that if he does not continue to gain weight too fast and if no other unforeseen complications intervene, he may join his boys on Floridian sands within a few weeks.

Walker Anxious To Meet Leonard

Welterweight Champion Is Confident He Will Fight Leonard This Year—Walker Denies That He Will Sign Contract With Kearns.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, Feb. 20.—"I'm confident I'm going to fight Henry Leonard this year," Nicky Walker, welterweight champion, said today. "I want to fight Leonard in the 'normal way.'"

Walker declared, "I think Leonard is the logical man to meet me. He's a better writer than any one I know and it would be a shame of a fight."

"If Leonard, as reported from New York, is offered $200,000 to box me, he certainly will not refuse and I am ready to go into a ring with him any time or any place."

Walker said he thought Leonard never had intended to retire without a final ring appearance.

"I would gladly risk my title to box Leonard for I would consider it the supreme test of my career," the champion said. "Leonard would have nothing at stake and a chance to reap a fortune. Should he win, he probably would continue actively in the ring, for he would not find it troublesome to make weight and would take more kindly to battling."

Asked what he would fear most from the lightweight star, Walker replied without hesitation: "His feet—his fast foot work."

Leonard's biggest asset, I think," Walker denied he planned while in California to sign a contract with Jack Kearns, director of Jack Dempsey.

"I came to California mostly to see the country," he said. "Talk of me signing with Kearns arose from the fact that I came on west landing some good matches in the east. Kearns and Dempsey and I are very good friends, but Kearns and I don't plan to tie up as managers and fighters."

Walker, when he meets Fern G. Lim, California middleweight in a 12 round no-decision bout here next Tuesday, will have Dempsey in his corner as chief second.
